Nazi Claims Say Big Gain Scored At Invasion Base

Russians Say Troops Advance upon Port of Feodosiya on Kerch Peninsula
Assault Pledged
Moscow Pledges Bigger Red Assault Against Hitler

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's high command asserted today that German tank forces had killed 27,000 Russians and captured 5,000 prisoners in a four-week battle of encirclement near Rzhev, key Nazi invasion base 125 miles northeast of Moscow, while the London radio reported that fresh Soviet troops had landed in the Crimea.

Russian front-line dispatches had previously declared that the German hold-out garrison at Rzhev, guarding the north flank of the Nazi retreat from Moscow, had been surrounded.

In the Crimea, a BBC broadcast said Russian troops were advancing upon the Port of Feodosiya, at the neck of the Kerch peninsula. Soviet warplanes aiding in the defense of Sevastopol, Crimean naval base, were declared to have killed nearly 30,000 Germans in a series of 300 offensive thrusts.

From the Moscow front, Hitler's headquarters said German troops, fighting in bitter sub-zero cold, had "destroyed the bulk of an enemy army and beaten a large part of a further enemy army"—presumably in the Rzhev sector.

The claim of total dead and wounded would represent about two divisions, or half of one Russian army corps.

A still larger Red army assault was pledged in Moscow today to counter Adolf Hitler's plans for a spring offensive and Red Star said the Russians were determined to "put an end to Nazi Germany in 1942."

The Soviet information bureau implied that cold and illness—below zero temperatures, dysentery and louse-borne diseases—had sapped the strength of many of the invaders. Captured medical reports were quoted as saying troops of the 33rd German infantry regiment were virtually exhausted.

A continued advance and recapture of additional settlements was the theme of the early morning communique. Soviet airmen were said to have "dispersed and partly annihilated nearly four enemy infantry battalions" February 19, this presumably accounting for about 400 men.

Concern over the United States-British-Russian supply route across the Atlantic and Arctic Oceans was heightened by a report that three German warships were steaming north along the Norwegian coast, raiding bent.

McDaniel Relates Harrowing Tale of Singapore Escape

Correspondent Escaped Jap Bombs at Sea, Shipwreck, Mountain Climbing to Reach Java

(C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press correspondent and last American reporter to leave Singapore before its fall, has arrived safely in Batavia after a series of breath-taking experiences. He tells his story in this dispatch, the first direct word from him since he filed his last cable from Singapore 4:45 a. m. E.W.T. Feb. 12 while aboard ship in the harbor, under incessant air attack. Born of American parents at Soochow, China, 35 years ago and educated at the Universities of Richmond and North Carolina, McDaniel has been under fire on numerous occasions during the past four years while covering hostilities in China.)

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
Batavia, N. E. I., Feb. 20 (Delayed) (AP)—I escaped from doomed Singapore February 13 aboard the last vessel to leave the battered and burning fortress and reached Batavia during an air raid alarm this morning.

In my seven and one-half day journey I abandoned a bombed ship, was cast up on an uninhabited island, made my way through a storm in a small launch to Sumatra, crossed that island's mountain wilds by truck, rail, pony cart and completed 1,200 roundabout miles safely through the Indian Ocean aboard a destroyer.

From the salt water soaked pulp which is what is left of my journal I will attempt to piece together my story, which in a larger sense is the story of the last days of Singapore.

Ten minutes later there was another ear-splitting crash followed by the hiss of escaping steam. The ship listed and began settling. The engineer emerged from the boiler room and assured us the boilers wouldn't explode because he'd opened the valves.

The officers gave no order to abandon ship but within 10 minutes a lifeboat was lowered. Before it hit the water, 15 sailors tumbled in and pulled off, too terrified to heed the officers' shouts to come back.

Boats Put Overside
After looking over the damage, the captain ordered the other two lifeboats put overside. We put Miss Lim, the only woman passenger, in one. The rest of us remained on board hoping that at least one of the leaky boats would be able to reach the nearest island five miles away and return before we had to swim for it. The captain said he believed we might have another two hours but the fire in the coal bunker was spreading and the list was getting worse.

Ulsterites Indicted in Still Ring

United States District Court Writs Charge Government Lost Sum of $3,429,500

4 Counties Listed
Operators Lived Also in Dutchess, Westchester Putnam Counties

New York, Feb. 21 (Special)—A number of residents of Ulster county were indicted in United States District Court here yesterday by the grand jury, charged with conducting illicit still operations in the county and in surrounding counties for a period of more than six years, thereby defrauding the government of revenues of $3,429,500.

They are part, according to the charges, of the "Vito Giallo Syndicate," a group of 69 men who have operated 19 stills in the period in Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester counties. The leader is Vito Giallo, alias Brewster Bill, of Brewster, N. Y., according to Assistant United States Attorney Raymond V. Ickes, who presented the evidence to the grand jury. On the basis of the volume of alcohol produced, the syndicate is the largest one yet uncovered, he said.

Ulster defendants named are: Anthony Bosco, 132 Prospect street, Kingston, John Caprotti and Peter Caprotti, 192 Ten Broeck avenue, Kingston, Agnes Cermack, Box 118, Route 1, Kingston, Frank Fabiano, Ulster Landing, Herbert Litts, RD 2, Highland, Dominick LaGutta, South Ohioville road, Ohioville, Frank Orlando, RD 2, Highland, Joseph Schenck, care of Schenck Inn, Town of Ulster, Ciro Sinagra, South Ohioville road Ohioville, Joseph Vasta, RD 2, Highland, Frank and Salvatore Verdrame, St. Remy.

The still operations were, among other places, at the Litts Farm, Town of Lloyd, where a 1,500-gallon still was in operation from February to April, 1941, producing 60,000 gallons of spirits on which the tax would have been $180,000; from August to September, 1941, on the Verdrame Farm, Esopus, 40,000 gallons was produced by a 1,000-gallon still, a tax loss of $210,000; from July to August, 1938, on the Agnes Marie Cermack Farm, Kingston, 71,000-gallon still, tax loss $159,750; November, 1938, to March, 1939, on Ciro Sinagra Farm, New Paltz, 1,500-gallon still, 105,000 gallons spirits, $236,250 taxes; September, 1940, to March, 1941, at Staples Brickyard, East Kingston, 210,000 gallons, $630,000 lost. A Rhinebeck still, on the Frank W. Velie Farm, operated from January to April, 1936, produced 64,000 gallons, and should have paid $128,000. The largest single loss was $732,000, at the Fred Scoralick Farm, Beekman, Dutchess county.

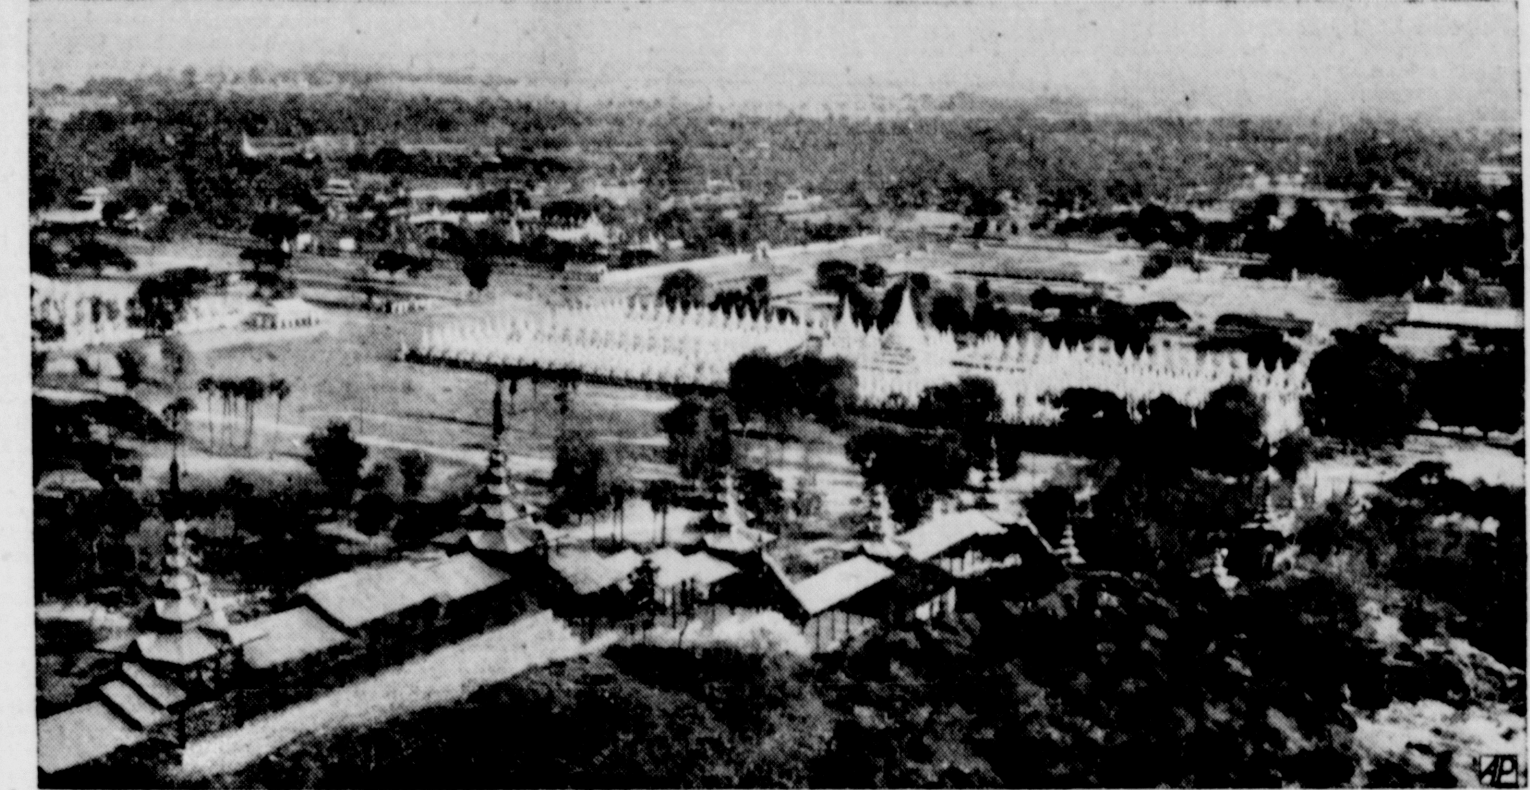

A number of the defendants were named in other indictments today, which referred to similar operations.

The local men are to be arraigned next week for pleading before Judge Alfred Cox. Most of them have been arrested and are out on bail from $500 to $2,500 each, set by United States commissioners.

Duke Is Ill
Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Duke of Aosta, former viceroy of Ethiopia who surrendered to the British last May 19 at Amba Alaji with his troops after a long siege, is gravely ill of tuberculosis in a nursing home here, it was reported today.

U. S., DUTCH WARSHIPS, PLANES SINK, DAMAGE JAP VESSELS

Mandalay Bombed by Japanese Planes

This is a view of Mandalay, known for its Kipling associations and more recently as a gateway to the Burma road over which China receives war supplies, which the Japanese said they bombed. Tokyo claimed damage to military installations.

Huge Battle Still Rages In Java Sea

One Cruiser Blows Up
Two Others Damaged
Badly, Also Destroyers, Transports

Four Planes Lost
Four American Aircraft Are Lost; 10 Bombers Take Part

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)
United States and Dutch warships, aided by dive bombers and fighting planes, smashed back at Japan's invasion hordes in a flaming sea battle off the island of Bali today, and by latest accounts had already blown up a Japanese cruiser and inflicted damaging blows on two other cruisers, two destroyers and four transports.

As the battle raged into its second day in the shark-infested Java Sea, dispatches from Batavia said it was potentially greater than the fight for Macassar Strait, the scene of Japan's worst naval disaster of the war.

United States cruisers and heavy bombers, combined with Dutch cruisers and destroyers under the aggressive command of the Dutch Vice-Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich, was reported blasting furiously at the invaders.

A war department bulletin, issued in Washington, said at least 10 heavy American bombers attacking the Japanese armada off Bali scored direct hits on three enemy cruisers and four transports, and also shot down four Japanese planes.

Four American planes were acknowledged lost.

Batavia dispatches said the Java Sea fight was the first allied naval offensive in the critical battle for the Indies.

One allied destroyer was torpedoed and sunk.

A bulletin from United States headquarters in Java said the planes sank a large Japanese transport and scored a series of direct hits on enemy cruisers and destroyers.

"One of the cruisers, which received two direct hits of heavy bombs, was seen to be stationary and on fire," a communique said.

Dispatches from Batavia said the fighting began shortly after midnight yesterday in Lombok Strait, east of Bali, and continued on a major scale today as the struggle for the last united nations stronghold in the Indies thundered toward a climax.

Allied submarines and treacherous coral reefs were reported playing havoc with Japanese landing forces.

Bali, already infested by Japan's sea-borne invasion hordes, lies across a mile-wide strait from Java.

A Dutch communique heard in Canberra, Australia, said that three Japanese cruisers, a destroyer and three transports had been damaged and another destroyer blown up in an attack off Bali. It did not specify whether this referred to the post-midnight action Friday or a later engagement.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters, giving its version, claimed a smashing victory against heavy odds in a battle after midnight Friday morning in the 15-mile-wide strait between Bali and Lombok islands.

A Japanese communique asserted that two Dutch destroyers were sunk and a third heavily damaged by two Japanese destroyers, which then chased two Dutch cruisers three miles before two more Japanese destroyers rushed up and helped score torpedo hits on the fleeing cruisers.

Darwin Is Evacuated
With the far Pacific conflict surging ever closer to her shores, Australia ordered civilians to evacuate Darwin, twice-bombed naval base on the north coast of the Commonwealth, and military authorities clamped strict control on the area.

Crated War Materials Pile Up On Wharves, Awaiting Shipment

War Bills Head Major Measures in Schedule of House

Legislation to End Pensions for Congressmen, War Damage Insurance Also on List

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Crated war materials were reported today to be piling up on American wharves awaiting urgently needed cargo ships to carry them to the far Pacific front.

And lack of sufficient shipping, rather than inadequate production, was described authoritatively as the most serious obstacle in the way of bolstering distant lines. However, there was a conviction in the capital that shipping would be only a temporary bottleneck.

A senate appropriations subcommittee was assured by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson yesterday that manufacture of planes, tanks and guns was going forward rapidly. From Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, members received a less encouraging description of the difficulties in turning out cargo vessels.

The committee is to act Monday on the $32,070,901,900 army-navy appropriations bill, carrying $3,852,000,000 in direct appropriations and contract authorizations for construction of 1,476 merchant ships. The bill contemplates speeding up production to a rate of two ships a day.

Land was said to have told the committee that every effort was being made to alleviate shortages in materials, particularly steel, and to hold down labor disputes which have interrupted construction. He told reporters later that "the rate of construction is not enough."

Committee members were said to have been informed that ship losses due to enemy action were regarded as relatively small, but that even so materials were beginning to pile up on wharves and that the long haul to the Pacific front by slow convoys has retarded deliveries.

German Command Claims Slaughter Of 27,000 Russians

Pre-Spring Communique Is Designed to Take Edge Off Red Reports on Army Anniversaries

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
(Wide World War Analyst)
The German high command dusts off the old, warped photograph record about "encirclement and annihilation" on the Russian front today and claims the slaughter of 27,000 Russians and imprisonment of 5,000 in four weeks on the central sector.

It has very good reasons of its own for this pre-spring offensive by communique:

It is time for Adolf Hitler to pretend to make good on his promises, made in his speech of January 30, that good news for Germans might be expected from the east in a few weeks.

It is probable that the Russian command will announce by tomorrow or Monday the accumulated results of the last few weeks of winter counter-offensive, and since there is every reason to believe these gains have been extensive, the Germans want to take the edge off them.

German "military circles," which designation is a device used by the Nazis to accredit information which the high command does not want to stand officially behind, say this action took place "near Rzhev." This probably is an excellent tip that the Russians will announce capture of that city, on the upper Volga 125 miles northwest of Moscow, which they long ago by-passed. They probably also will announce and document gains far west of Rzhev, close to the frontiers of the Nazi-occupied and typhus-ridden Baltic states, plus an important penetration of the south.

This expected Russian communique may well be the last compilation of large-scale offensive action before the Red Army is obliged to cope with Hitler's real spring drive.

Problem Is What to Do American Cities and Towns Can't Figure Exactly What Sort of Raid Signal to Have

Chicago, Feb. 21 (AP)—To warble or not to warble, or maybe a hoo-hoo would be better.

That is the problem of American cities and towns now trying to install air raid alarms.

The dilemma lies in the hunt for a sound unlike the familiar siren and horn notes used by fire and police departments. These sounds are usually successive blasts, often with meaning depending on their timing.

In September, the war department recommended a warbling note that would run up and down the scale, but in a short range. But the warble hasn't been solved yet. The yoo-hoo, with a shiver-your-bones inflection added, was proposed today by Dr. William Braid White, Chicago acoustical scientist, who has been carrying on a wide correspondence about the air alert plans.

shivers by flattening the high, long note. He proposes middle C followed by the E flat above.

His all-clear would be a hearty, soothing sort of yoo-hoo, with no rattling, and both notes equally long, the first lower than the second, maybe F followed by D.

Whatever the signals are, he said, they should be placed on phonograph records for newsreel reproduction, so that the public will know what to listen for. That also might save serious consequences for the person who knows his home town signal, but has not heard the one in New York or San Francisco.

Choosing the signals is under local control in each community. Most of them are waiting, hoping that some of the $100,000,000 appropriation for target area defenses will be available for buying tooters, warblers, yoo-hoos or whatever can be agreed upon.

Dr. White suggested that the simplest, and possibly cheapest signal devices, are the loudspeaker systems familiar in political campaigns. They will toot, warble, yoo-hoo or most anything.

One Mail Delivery
Although Sunday is Washington's birthday it will be legally celebrated on Monday and for the first time in the history of the Kingston post office department legal authorization from the post office department has been received enabling the department to make one delivery of mail in Kingston that morning.

Postmaster William R. Kraft said today that the general delivery and stamp windows in both the central post office and the two branch stations will remain open Monday from 7 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock.

Rep. John H. Tolan (D., Calif.), arriving to open the congressional hearing in San Francisco today, said his group expected to examine "facts, figure and fears" relating to the presence of enemy aliens on the Pacific coast.

Now that the government has requested women to get themselves into good physical condition, I've decided the time has come for me to start dieting.

I guess when you get right down to it, the rubber shortage is what really helped me make up my mind something had to be done. I figured that if I could cut down my girdle size an acre or two, it would leave that much more rubber for the Army and Navy and Marines to use in rubbing out the Japs.

Yes, I'm anxious to do my part for Uncle Sam—more than my part, I can. For instance, take that "Keep your chin up" order. I've been keeping up enough chins for four people!

When I decided to lose weight, I started off by hanging signs all over the refrigerator reading, "Fly, Fat Stuff!" "Hello, Overweight!" "Easy on the starches, Pudge!" "It's the best way I know of to discourage those midnight raids."

Of course, I've had to be more careful about what I eat at those parties I attend, too. You know what a party is, don't you? That's a thing at which a woman gives a few friends and a lot of strangers better food than she gives her husband all week.

It may look a little silly for a sculptor's model like me to be nibbling at hors d'oeuvres, but . . . What's that? You didn't know I was a model? Where did you suppose the New York World's Fair committee got the idea for the Perispheres?

An Army ordnance officer thinks that diet or no diet, I still might work out for the tank corps, so that if I told you just how much I weigh and how much I've lost. I might be divulging a military secret. I can tell you this much, though: When I step on a scale now, I get a card telling me my weight; I used to get one reading, "One at a time, please!"

of the Music Study Club when Mrs. J. W. Blakely and Mrs. Gladys Meares were hostesses at the home of the former. Mrs. Franklin Welker had arranged the numbers which opened by a talk on how the opera came to be written by Beethoven. She was followed by Mrs. William Barnaby, who told the story of Carmen. "The Toreador's Song" was sung by Mrs. William Lais; Mrs. Oliver Kent played the Entr' Act music of the opera; Miss Helene Kent sang the Card Song, and Mrs. Arthur Kurtz sang the Michaelmas Aria from the last act. Owing to illness among members several numbers could not be given. Guests present were: Mrs. Harry Sutton, Clintondale; Mrs. Jennie Faas, Montgomery; Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail. The members attending were: Mrs. Arthur Kurtz, the president; Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, Mrs. Oliver Kent, Mrs. Howard Barton, Mrs. Harry Cotant, Mrs. Nathan Williams, Mrs. William Barnaby, Mrs. Paul Kurtz, Mrs. A. W. Williams, the Misses Julia Van Keuren, Edna Curry, Rose Symes, Helen Kent, and the hostesses.

Village Notes

Highland, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Franklin Welker, incoming president of the Ladies' Aid Society, held a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. H. Mackey. Those attending were Mrs. A. W. Williams, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Champlin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nathan Williams, secretary; Mrs. John Brucklacher, Mrs. Rachel Rowley, Mrs. Oliver Tullison, Miss Julia Van Keuren, Mrs. Roscoe Wood, Mrs. Matthew Busch. The work was talked over for the coming year and committees assigned to the 12 vice presidents. Mrs. Bertram Cottine is chairman for March.

There were about 40 members of the Lloyd Rod and Gun Club who attended the farewell to Albert Roberts and Donald Merritt at the meeting Tuesday evening at the Erichsen cooler.

Principal A. Herbert Campbell accepted the contract for next year as head of the Central School District. This followed the meeting of the trustees held Friday night.

A home has been found for Mr. and Mrs. John Griffo and their six children in what is known as the old toll gate house. Many people have contributed generously to furnish the clothing since the family lost everything in the fire last week, as they occupied the upper floor of the living rooms attached to the old cider mill that burned. One of the newly pieced quilts of the Evening Reading Circle was given them.

A largely attended baby clinic was held in the Health Center Wednesday.

Mrs. Bertram Cottine is spending a few days with relatives in New York.

It is expected that Monday's sewing will complete the obstetrical packages for use by the public health nurse. Cord dressings and gauze sponges will be made on that date.

Mrs. Oliver Tillson was hostess Tuesday afternoon for the completion of the second quilt at the home of Mrs. V. P. Salvatore. Sewing were: Mrs. M. P. Busch, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Bertram Dimsey, Mrs. Alfred Lane, Mrs. D. S. Haynes, Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. A. W. Lent, Mrs. Tillson and Mrs. Salvatore. A third quilt is being started by the group, all members of the Reading Circle.

Prepared for Service

The best maintenance service in the history of Studebaker is now available throughout the nation for owners of cars bearing the Studebaker trade name. This is the statement of Kenneth B. Elliott, the corporation's vice president, and is particularly true of this community, according to P. J. Beichert, local Studebaker dealer whose headquarters are located at Port Ewen. "In anticipation of present conditions in the automobile industry, Studebaker began a year ago an intensive campaign for the improvement of the maintenance facilities of our dealers," said Mr. Elliott. "The 12-month campaign has produced excellent results. From the standpoint of equipment and personnel, today the Studebaker dealer organization is better fitted to 'keep 'em rolling' than ever before."

Mr. Beichert said that he hoped Studebaker owners will heed the advice of coming at regular intervals to the shop that knows most about their cars.

Ceiling on Prices

By HERMAN ALLEN

Wide World Features Writer

Price control, one of the measures the administration has been pushing as a bulwark against inflation, has been signed into law. What American breadwinners want to know is: What is the new law going to do to the prices of clothes, shoes and the things we eat?

First thing to keep in mind is that the law does not call for price ceilings, where the government can begin setting top prices. The ceiling can be anywhere from there on up.

For everything except farm products, the minimum ceiling is based on prices between October 1 and October 15, 1941, or the nearest two-week period for which the price administrator considers prices are "representative."

For farm products, four possible minimum ceilings were set for farmers. (So far the Office of Price Administration has preferred to work at the factory or wholesale level in setting prices.) The minimum ceiling is set at the highest of these four:

1. 110 per cent of "parity." The parity price for most commodities is the price the Department of Agriculture calculates the farmer should receive to be about as well off as he was from 1909 to 1914.
2. The October 1, 1941 farm price.
3. The December 15, 1941, farm price.
4. The average 1919-20 farm price.

Some farm commodities—rice, and beef cattle are two—already had gone beyond the minimum ceiling last month. In a case of this sort, the price administrator and the secretary of agriculture (who has a say-so in setting farm price ceilings) could do one of two things. Since the minimum ceiling is only a minimum, they might set the ceiling at the present price, or they might set the ceiling at the minimum and whack the price back down again.

Other prices may still go higher—and some minimum ceilings may change. If parity for potatoes should go up from $1.14 a bushel to $1.25 next month, for example, then that would be the minimum instead of $1.24, the 1919-29 average farm price.

Agricultural Department officials say unofficially that in the case of surplus commodities (like wheat, cotton and tobacco), it probably will be the policy to let prices ramble. On the other hand, there are some things much in demand because America is undertaking to furnish a good deal of them to our allies. These are mostly dairy products, eggs and pork. The idea there will be to keep prices down.

Officially, Price Administrator Henderson and Secretary Wickard have published a statement in which they said "abundant production—the consumer's best assurance of fair prices"—will be their first goal.

Dunn Will Tell How Priorities Aid Local Businesses

Scores of Kingston businesses ranging from a manufacturer of filtering equipment to a refrigerating engineer took the opportunity to obtain information on complex priority regulations during recent interviews with John Dunn, traveling priority executive of the New York Priorities Field Service of W. P. B., who will conduct his second "clinic" at City Hall on Tuesday. And local manufacturers both in war and essential civilian production who have priorities problems are strongly urged to make their advance appointments once again through Mayor William F. Edelmuth. "Clinic" hours will be between 9 and 5 o'clock.

One of several priorities "experts" making a regular swing through 10 Hudson river industrial communities, who rolled up a total of more than 370 interviews in 17 working days, Mr. Dunn declared that his first visit to Kingston had been "very heartening." However, many manufacturers and commercial firms are still confused as to priority procedure. It is important to remember that ignorance of the service which priorities offer to hard-pressed businessmen these days, can hamper both the national war effort as well as the health of their own enterprises.

"It is our job to point out which regulations affect their business," says Mr. Dunn, "and there are already some 130 basic orders in existence." It must be remembered, however, that Mr. Dunn does not himself grant priorities.

Previous Kingston inquiries for priority advice and information included a welding machine shop in need of welding rods and a manufacturer of filtering equipment seeking to know how to extend their priority rating. Mr. Dunn discussed with the latter's representative the use of the P-100 form. Several brick making companies were furnished information on how to apply for materials urgently required for maintenance and repair.

A Kingston furniture builder sought priority information to obtain metal hinges, and the possibility of a substitute for burlap, now one of the highly critical commodities since America entered the war. Among other visitors at the previous Kingston clinic were representatives of a hospital, a dress manufacturer, and a refrigerating engineer himself, who were informed during their interviews that the P-100 "repair and maintenance" priority order permitted them to extend their rating to plumbing and heating supplies, which in turn could use them to obtain their regular supplies.

Mr. Dunn emphasizes the fact that manufacturers not making use of the Production Regulations Plan (PRP) are missing a good bet for their business. Under its regulations, businessmen engaged in essential civilian production, with little defense work, still may be able to obtain a high preference rating for needed materials, for a full three months period. The PRP is highly flexible, and application consists of filling out just five copies of Form P-25-A.

WHAT OF YOUR NEIGHBOR?

During the blackout test on Monday evening there were a few reports from post and zone wardens of violations of the rules governing light reflecting outside homes. One of these citizens was brought before the city judge because of his refusal to comply with requests from the wardens.

The action of this citizen and the others who failed to cooperate was either due to negligence, ignorance or stubbornness or a combination of all three.

If the blackout that evening had been a real emergency instead of a rehearsal, it would have meant that these people were endangering the lives of all citizens of the city. This utter disregard for the well-being of a fellow-man is deplorable.

The excuse offered by one violator that he was dressing to go out that evening is a very unsatisfactory one, when the gravity of such an act in time of danger is considered. There were undoubtedly other residents who had planned to go out that night, but they either made it a point to leave the house for their destination before the hour fixed for the test, or waited until the all clear signal was given.

Children also should be so instructed or supervised as to the blackout regulations. Smart alec or innocent performances in time of danger would be equally as disastrous.

It is time that every man, woman and child in the country realized that war waged today is a grim and horrifying reality on the home front. These test blackouts in Kingston and elsewhere are staged for the purpose of instructing all citizens what to do in case the real test ever comes with the drone of enemy death-dealing airplanes over their city.

Residents who refuse to comply with requests to extinguish lights and to stay off the streets are not cooperating with their fellow citizens. The wardens who patrolled the streets in the rain and darkness that evening answered the call willingly and cheerfully. The young men in the armed forces of our country are most certainly risking their lives. Little is thought of their personal comfort in time of rehearsal or actual warfare.

Residents of Kingston and Ulster county are to be congratulated on their demonstration of loyalty and common sense. When the next test comes let the very small minority join their ranks.

A NOBLE ALLY

We Americans lately are getting a new slant on what some wise fellow-countryman has called "ancient and honorable China." Her virtues have never shown more brightly than today, when she is struggling for her life under enormous handicaps. And let us remember with humility that, while lacking nearly everything that modern nations think necessary for war, she alone has fought Japan successfully.

Let us think of this when we find ourselves slipping into the easy error of mistaking our loans to China as "charity." They are not that at all. They are sinews of war in a struggle as vital to us as it is to China herself. And a dollar may go as far in China, for purposes of Allied defense, as a hundred will go here.

More than that: "A fighting alliance with China," writes Henry R. Luce in his magazine Life, "is absolutely vital for the necessity of winning this war. But when you look into the future of mankind, the Sino-American partnership takes on even greater importance. For on that partnership depends the peaceful and happy commerce between all the people of the West and all the people of the East."

BUILDING REVOLUTION

A builder of low-cost houses told a real estate board the other day that "the low cost house is an evolution." The small house, he maintained, is not a large house cut down, but a new design for living quite on its own. This is the point of view architects and builders have been coming to for some time.

The builder might quite as well have referred to a "revolution" as to an "evolution," for all the older ideas about building seem to have been turned upside down of late. The new little houses are completely different from the older ones. They have every convenience and every comfort within their smaller confines. There isn't the waste space of the older homes, but life goes on quite as pleasantly and far more easily in them than it did of old, where women spent their lives dusting and feeding fires.

These new building methods do indeed, in their small and charming way, constitute another "American Revolution." Even Sweden, so advanced in these matters, may be learning from us before long.

WAR PROFITS

It seems odd to find an excess profits case from the last war coming to a decision just now. But it comes opportunely.

The verdict is interesting. The Supreme Court announces that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation had a right to claim 22 per cent profit on 13 contracts. The verdict, in which three of the nine justices did not for technical reasons participate, represented only four affirmative votes, but that doesn't affect the result.

The most interesting thing about it, however, is the practical comment contained in the decision. All our wars, the court observed, "have provided opportunities for profiteering, and they have been too often scandalously seized." It is not the court's duty, it says, to "protect the nation against profiteering," but it points out the Congress has ample power for that purpose.

Perhaps it can be assumed now that Congress will make use of such power.

DARING ENEMIES

The escape of the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen from Brest to safer German ports was a daring feat. It recalled the bravery of the Nazi submarine captain who, earlier in the war, slipped into the very midst of the British fleet at Scapa Flow and torpedoed the Royal Oak.

We can appreciate such sportsmanlike feats. But our admiration yields to regret that such bravery should be coupled with the barbarity that sinks vessels without warning on the high seas and then shells the lifeboats.

FUNCTIONAL DISORDERS

As students we were taught the difference between a functional and an organic ailment.

A functional ailment is where there is pain or other disturbance in an organ or tissues and yet there is no change or disturbance in the structure of the organ or tissue. Thus, as rapid beating of the heart or some distress in stomach could occur without any change in the structure of the heart or stomach, rapid heart beat and stomach distress would, in these cases be called functional disorders.

An organic ailment, on the other hand, causes symptoms (because there is a change in the structure of the organ). Thus distress in stomach caused by ulcer or a heart murmur due to a leaking valve are organic ailments.

As students we were not greatly interested in functional disorders because there was no "real" disease present, the patient was told that there was no cause for worry.

However, physicians now know that functional disturbances can cause symptoms that upset the patient physically and mentally and patients with functional disturbances get the same attention as those with organic ailments.

In showing what functional disorder is in everyday life, the professor of Medical Pathology, University of Paris, in Medical Press, states: "During violent emotion, such as fear, there arises a series of changes in the body which in a few seconds transform an absolutely normal individual into a very ill patient. The heart beats tumultuously, tongue, lips and lining of cheeks become dry, the skin is covered with perspiration, there is a great desire to pass urine, stomach juice stops flowing, there is diarrhoea, trembling of hands, raised blood pressure, pale face with dilated pupils of eyes."

At least half of ailments seen by physicians are functional but "this doesn't mean that they are imaginary or only in the patient's mind." These symptoms are produced by derangements of the nervous, gland, or circulation systems which interfere with the "balance" of the organs affected.

Functional symptoms, then, are due to nervousness and emotional disturbances which upset the "balance" of various organs—brain, stomach, intestine, heart, kidneys, causing real symptoms, though there is no disease, no change in the structure of the organ affected.

Neurasthenia—Tiredness

Many individuals today are suffering with neurasthenia—mental and physical tiredness. There may be several reasons for it and it should be investigated wherever present. Send today for Dr. Barton's new leaflet entitled "Neurasthenia—Mental and Physical Tiredness." All you have to do to obtain it is send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Barton, Post Office Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., and ask for leaflet by name.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Easter Sunday, April 20, 1924, was a red letter day for the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street, for it marked the dedication of the new Charles Ramsey Memorial Building. Impressive services marked the day with the dedication sermon delivered by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady.

In addition there was a special musical program with the Hummel brothers, Earle and Stanley, rendering instrumental selections, while the vocalists were Mrs. Roy Wood, Miss Greta Linkletter, Joseph Craig, Milton E. Schiebel and W. Gordon Burhans.

The members of the chorus included Mrs. J. W. Murray, Mrs. Chester A. Baltz, Mrs. Putnam Cady, Miss Florence Vogel, Miss Charlotte Gillett, Miss Alma Tyler, Miss Maud Curry, Miss Helen Schwab, Miss Alice Gillett, Miss Florence Gillett, C. Ray Everett, William Murray and Dr. John R. Gillett.

Miss Ethel Mauterstock was pianist and director.

It was also in April, 1924, that the Kingston Colonials opened the baseball season with Mayor Morris Block tossing over the first ball at the Kingston Fair Grounds. The famous D. & H. Generals opposed the locals in a game that went 11 innings with the Generals on the winning end. The score was 2 to 1.

"Bud" Culliton tossed them over for the Colonials with Jack Robins behind the plate. The other Kingston players were Dugan, Dewey, Devgan, Raskin, Coyle, Schwab and Schaffer.

Rossback twirled for the D. & H. Generals that day.

The Ulster Branch of the Holland Society was organized in Kingston at a meeting held in the Advance Restaurant on Wall street, with the election of William J. Turck of this city as president, and Holly R. Cantine of Saugerties as secretary.

Those attending the organization meeting were Judge A. T. Clearwater, William J. Turck, Buyns Hasbrouck, Philip H. DuBois, H. Bowman LeFever, Clarence H. Woolsey, Bryn J. Terwilliger, locally B. Cantine, Theodore Brink, Charles S. Ten Broeck, Myron Teller and E. Otis Van Alsen.

I also recall that in April, 1924, Mayor Morris Block appointed Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey and Mrs. Conrad E. Hasbrouck as members of the Board of Health to succeed Mrs. Hattie B. Michael and Dr. Mary Gate Day, whose terms of office had expired.

Dr. Day was one of the first if not the first woman, to practice medicine in Kingston. Mrs. Michael was the wife of Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael. Both had served on the health board for a number of years.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—For a person who tries never to predict, to make some estimate of what is going to result from senatorial and executive surveys of government personnel is really taking the bit. But there are straws in the wind now too thick to be ignored.

First, the federal government, with a quarter of a million employees in Washington and a million more "in the field," already has exceeded the wildest forecasts. Here alone it is growing at the rate of 6,000 employees a month. Senator Tydings, Maryland's anti-administration Democrat, has described it as "an overgrown monstrosity from top to bottom."

Every one of the ten departments headed by members of the cabinet have pleaded that they are all or in great part necessary to the war effort, and therefore should have priorities in appropriations and the hiring of additional personnel. Seven of these have been classified as necessary in toto, three in part. Out of 36 independent agencies and bureaus of the government, only eight lay no claim to being essential to all-out war.

In spite of the vast expansion of government personnel, not all of the departments have added employees in the last year. That much-criticized fellow, Harold L. Ickes, has cut his Interior department staff about 2,500 in 18 months in up to January 1. However, at that time, the trend again was up. The Labor department is down slightly.

Out of the present drive to put the government on a real war basis, many of these bottlenecks are likely to be broken. Add to this the reorganization of many agencies, such as is taking place in the Office of Civilian Defense, and the dropping off of some whose activities overlap, and it is likely that within the next six months or so the government is in for the greatest reorganization that has occurred under the New Deal or any other.

Income Tax

Your Federal Income Tax
No. 42
DEDUCTION FOR TAX ON MOTOR GAS

If an automobile is used for both business and pleasure, those maintenance and operating expenses which constitute allowable deductions for Federal income tax purposes should be allocated to the two uses on the basis of the time the car is used for each. For example, if the total expense of operation and maintenance, plus depreciation, for the taxable year amounted to $800, and the car was used three-fourths of the time for business and the balance of the time for pleasure, the allowable deduction, for Federal income tax purposes, would be $600.

In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed and by whom they are paid. If the State law imposes a tax on gasoline by its terms it imposes the tax on the consumer and not on the dealer, the consumer may deduct as a tax, for Federal income tax purposes, the amount of the gasoline tax paid by him; but the taxpayer must have kept records of the payment of such taxes in order that the deduction may be substantiated as is required by the regulations. The Federal gasoline tax is not deductible by the consumer. The taxpayer may ascertain whether a State gasoline tax is deductible by the consumer or by the dealer by addressing an inquiry to the collector of internal revenue for his district.

In any case where the gasoline purchased is used for business purposes, the tax may be regarded as a part of the cost of the gasoline and deducted as a business expense; but in such case the gasoline tax cannot be deducted separately as a tax under the item of taxes.

From Washington at Valley Forge to MacArthur at Manila, has been a long line of radiant Americans who have dared the high risk of the truly brave. And the United States have been secure because of the countless service of such men. Too long have we taken the blessings of this land as something that comes as a free gift from heaven. Not always have we realized that such blessings must be paid for by each and everyone of us in the form of loyalty, devotion and service. In the days, weeks, months and years that lie ahead America will need the full need of service from every citizen. The lofty spirit of George Washington is recalled today. We extol his unselfish devotion to his country and his genius in using power for the good of others, never for himself. It is in such a tradition the United States carries on.

War News of 1943 Is Being Made Now by American Industry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 21.—Not all the war news is in the headlines about the actual fighting. The real war news of 1943 is being made now—almost every day—by the phenomenal record which American industry is achieving on the production side.

Of outstanding importance to those big four-engine bombers and the huge quantities of incendiary bombs some day to be dropped on Japanese and German military bases with devastating results are certain raw materials, among them aluminum and magnesium.

In both these all-important metals, America and Canada alone have not only passed the Axis powers in production but toward the end of 1942 and early 1943 will have reached a production capacity far beyond the factories of our enemies.

Some idea of the magnitude of the expansion in aluminum may be derived when it is considered that in 1939 the annual consumption in America had reached about 440,000,000 pounds whereas today plans have been announced for approximately 3,000,000,000 pounds on the North American continent alone to be produced early next year.

In magnesium, the 1939 production was 670,000 pounds and Germany had a long start with a production supposed to be somewhere near 300,000,000 pounds a year. Counting plants built and building America by the end of 1942 will be producing not merely more magnesium than Germany but a total far in excess. Exact figures cannot be disclosed but it is possible to say that the expansion in the aluminum industry which was about ten-fold may run in the case of magnesium to many times ten-fold.

The man who has had direct charge of this expansion program first for the O. P. M. and now for the War Production Board is William Batt.

He is an industrial engineer who left his business to become a dollar a year man here. His job was the presidency of S. K. F. Roller Bearing Company. He brought to bear the principles and lessons of industrial engineering and assembled a staff of metallurgical experts familiar with the products needed in the defense program.

Mr. Batt was one of the first to cry out for an annual aluminum production of 440,000,000 pounds and now this is in fair way to be realized.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Feb. 20.—During the three days of the Town of Olive Selective Service Draft Registration a total of 80 registrants were enrolled. Supervisor Lemuel E. DuBois was in charge of the registration which was held in the Olive Bridge I.O.O.F. Hall.

Other members of the board who assisted were: Helen Marshall, Elmer F. Davis, Grover C. Christiana, Leslie B. Davis, John F. Darling, Earl Brundage and E. C. Davis. Throughout the registration a marked spirit of co-operation was evidenced between enrollees and board members.

The community's part in Monday evening's practice blackout was carried out with a high rate of success. The group who served as auxiliary police for this district included Captain Edmund C. Burgher, Sergeant Leslie Davis, Raymond Bell, Charles Hestley, Arthur Snyder, Joe Winkler, John Nagle, Charles Domian and E. C. DuBois. During the blackout the highways were free of automobile travel.

Word was received of the death of "Grandpa" Winkler, father of Nicholas Winkler, who died Wednesday night in Hackensack, N. J., where for the past few years he has made his home with another of his sons. He was nearly 90 years old.

Raymond Kelder after spending several months at home with his mother has been recalled to the service of his country. He reported for duty at Camp Upton Friday from whence he expected to be transferred to a training camp in Texas. Well wished by his many friends attended his leave taking. He was inducted into selective service training last June and subsequently for several months with the cavalry replacement school at Fort Riley, Kan.

The Ladies' Aid group attending the weekly church quilting and luncheon on Wednesday included: President, Mrs. Belle Burgher, Vice President, Mrs. Kathryn Terwilliger, Secretary, Mrs. Florence Bell, Treasurer, Mrs. Anna Avery; Mrs. Minnie Every; Mrs. Elizabeth Richter, Mrs. Bertha Shimer, Mrs. James Martin, Mrs. Mattie Davis.

Congratulations are extended to Assessor and Mrs. Francis Every, parents of a young daughter born Sunday at the Kingston Hospital.

Larry Kelder, having returned from a business swing into the west and south, was Saturday visitor with his mother at Head Acres estate.

Mrs. Addie Van DeMark is reported not feeling well. Ex-Superintendent of Highways Claude Bell is reported recovering from a recent illness.

Edward Avery of Kingston recently visited his mother, Mrs. Minnie Avery of his mother, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Burgher spent a recent evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guinac in Ashokan.

Arthur Condon, teacher of the Bushkill school spent the Lincoln Day week-end out of town.

Mrs. Frances Whittier's sister, President of the Normal School, returned home Tuesday after making her visit. Judge Fred L. Weidners tract continues by trucks to the Schwab and Terwilliger saw mill at Pat-ing realized and the interior department has announced that the electric power capacity to produce another 600,000,000 pounds will shortly be available, the immensity of the aluminum program can be understood.

While there is an abundance of aluminum planned for military purposes, this does not mean that either the army or navy can be permitted to use aluminum by insisting on metal for things that can be made with substitute products. Mr. Batt is constantly urging conservation and economy and that's one reason why despite the huge amounts to be forthcoming, aluminum must, nevertheless, be carefully allocated and its uses limited.

In magnesium a truly fantastic result is being achieved. Dow Chemical Company, the pioneer in America, is, of course, the mainstay of the program and the processes it has developed have been placed at the disposal of other companies and government plants. America isn't depending on one process, however, and is also utilizing the processes adapted from European and Japanese users.

Along with the Dow Chemical, the big magnesium job is being accomplished by Diamond Alkali Company, Mathieson Alkali Works, Union Potash Company, Permanent Metals Corporation, all of whose plants are already in operation or nearly so. As for expansion, the government has called in Union Carbide and Carbon Company, American Metals Company, New England Lime Company and the Ford Motor Car Company to prepare new plants or help in production with new processes.

Everyone of these companies will have played a vital part in the march to victory provided their workers cooperate and their managements give every bit of skill and energy possible to the achievement of the big tasks that lie ahead. The war and navy departments have started a scheme for awarded flags of meritorious achievement in the making of ordnance materials or shipbuilding and the idea might well be extended to every raw material producer who either makes his scheduled or succeeds in beating it. For that's where the war will be won—on the production line—and it's gratifying to be able from time to time to report the excellent progress that's being made.

Beauty and the Bike: A 1942 Travel Note

By BETTY CLARKE
Wide World Beauty Editor

Bicycling for beauty—even without a bike—booms as never before this year. For the sake of lovelier legs many a modern girl makes the motion of cycling in her regular routine exercise.

But beauty on a bike is apt to be a spring song this season. It's fashion and fun and priorities to push on the pedals.

I asked Cy Panitch of the Bicycle Club of America to suggest special aids to correct cycling, particularly for beginners who wish to take to a bike properly. Here are his recommendations:

1. Sit straight on the saddle.
2. Relax.
3. Don't look in back of you, nor on your front wheel.
4. Keep your eyes forward at least 10 feet beyond the front wheel.
5. Pedal evenly, neither too slowly nor too fast.
6. Pedal with the balls of your feet firmly on the pedals.
7. In coasting, see that the pedals are in horizontal position to give leverage to apply the coast-brakes freely.
8. Don't grip handlebars too tightly.
9. Keep wrists relaxed.

NEW AS NEXT YEAR'S HAT are these Pickwickian cycling outfits of brown and white hound's tooth check woolen, tapered at the ankles. The flannel jacket is collarless.

Daisy, Daisy, our motoring days are through.

Don't be lazy—walking is good for you.

The tires of our horseless carriage

Are victims of wear-and-tear.

But you'll look sweet upon the seat

Of a bicycle built for two.

The world has seen the Stone Age, the Ice Age and the Motor Age. But this, boys and girls, is the beginning of the Bicycle Age.

Come spring, a goodly number of the American motoring public will be reduced from four wheels to two.

Since bicycle tires are as yet unrationed, Mr. and Mrs. Jones and all the little Jones are taking to bicycles in ever increasing numbers. Last year, even before the spectre of tire rationing became a fact, some two million bicycles were sold in the United States.

As usual, American designers have come through in a big way with smart new functional clothes guaranteed to make any girl run—not walk—to the nearest bicycle shop. Pictured here are some of the best bets for Bicycle Girls of 1942.

Woman Of The Month

She Leads Women Fliers To War

By ADELAIDE KERR

Wide World Feature Writer
Jacqueline Cochran will lead the first contingent of American women flying behind the lines in Europe.

She will select and head 25 crack women pilots who will ferry combat planes from British factories to airfields. They will serve with the British Air Transport Auxiliary which is not part of the combat forces.

As head of a group whose work will mark a new phase in American women's World War services, Miss Cochran is my nomination for the Woman of the Month.

This will not be her first wartime work. Last June Miss Cochran, America's No. 1 woman flyer, piloted a Lockheed Hudson bomber across the North Atlantic to England—the first woman to do such a job. She has long felt that America's women fliers should serve as wartime ferry pilots and thus free men for active service.

She will nominate the woman pilots, accompany them to Canada for training courses and flight checks and (probably late in February) go ahead of them to England. They are considered a first unit and will probably be followed by others. Their job means handling the big Hurricanes and Spitfires—much heavier planes probably than most of them have flown before. About 50 British women pilots are already ferrying such planes.

Miss Cochran, now on a recruiting tour of 10 cities, is interviewing only pilots who have had at least 300 hours in the air. She spends hours on those interviews; explains blackouts, rations, hard work and long hours. She wants to make it plain that this is no "glamour job" and that once the

"This is no glamour job."

"women have signed for 18 months' service 'they're in the army now.'"

Thoroughly Feminine

America's woman air ace works with terrific concentration and drive. Out of flying togs, though, she becomes thoroughly feminine. She is blonde and dark-eyed and loves pretty frocks. In private life she is the wife of Floyd Odlum, former Wall Street financier who is now advisor to Donald Nelson, director of the War Production Board.

Jackie Cochran's climb from a beauty parlor job to world altitude records is one of the sagas of woman's advance. She was born in Pensacola, Fla., orphaned at four and taken to live with a family in Columbus, Ga. At 11 she was at work in a beauty shop and by the time she had reached her teens could set a wave with the best of them. Later she became a nurse, worked in the South, then moved on to New York and back to the beauty business.

Nine years ago she learned to fly and got her pilot's license within a three weeks' vacation. Since then she has chalked up records which have made her tops. In 1938 she won the Bendix Transcontinental Air Derby and a $12,500 prize against a field of men.

More Records, and . . .

Right now she holds the international record for 2,000 kilometers, the women's national altitude record, the women's transcontinental record and a flock of others. Three times (1937, '38 and '39) she captured the Clifford Burke Harmon Trophy of the International League of Aviators—aviation's outstanding award. She is president of the Ninety-Nines, an international organization of women pilots.

Besides this she runs her own cosmetics manufacturing business and flies all over the country on business trips. Add to that the ownership of a dale ranch in California whose house she designed and constructed.

At present the Odlums make headquarters in Washington, but in normal times runs both their luxurious New York apartment and their house in Stamford, Conn. She is extremely proud of being a good housekeeper.

You might think that sometimes she would grow a little tired. She does. But she has an answer for that too. She keeps an oxygen tank at home, puts on an aviation mask, inhales for half an hour and emerges "fresh as a daisy."

Home Service Exercises for a Matronly Figure

Uncontrolled Bulges Get Worse

"Will I look like that some day?" Seeing a typical dowager with a large shapeless bust, you do wonder—especially if your own figure has started to sag. Actually, matronly figures needn't BE! Safe, easy exercises can control sags and bulges all over the body. Here is one for the bust—making it firm, young!

1—Lie on back, with arms stretched out to side. 2—Raise shoulders and chest, keeping arms on mat. Take weight on back of head and raise chin upward. 3—Lower chest and shoulders to mat. Repeat 5 times. Rest. Do 10 times altogether.

What this exercise actually does is to firm the slack pectoral muscles that have failed to hold your bust in position. Unshapely bulges always start with such slack muscles, whether at waist, legs, hips or abdomen. Do exercises, a few minutes a day!

Our 32-page booklet gives routines for every part of the body—bust, arms, shoulders, neck and chin, waistline, hips, legs. Also has exercises to correct aching feet, awkward posture, constipation, nervous tension, for increased vigor.

Send ten cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for your copy of "Best Exercises for Health And Beauty" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Reheat leftover mashed potatoes by adding hot milk—just a little—and cooking until hot in double boiler. Stir in an egg or 2 yolks and 1/3 cup grated cheese. Beat until fluffy, serve hot and you have a meat substitute at little cost.

2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat 2 minutes. Pour into loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Bake 50 minutes in moderate oven (350). Serve with sliced peaches, cherries or fruit sauce.

A cup of hot cranberry juice, bottled or home-made, will give a lift after a busy day. It is also very good for the opening course at luncheon, supper or dinner.

To whip evaporated milk, scald it for five minutes, covered in double boiler. Cool, chill and beat. If desired the milk can be boiled 3 minutes right in the cans, cooled and then whipped as needed. Mark the cans showing that they have been boiled.

Rag Doll Revolution

Elsie Shavers and one of her "Little Shavers."

By Dorothy Roe

Wide World Features Writer

It's fitting that a red-headed girl from 'way down south in the land of cotton should set New York on its ear with her impertinent and beguiling new "cotton sculpture."

Elsie Shaver and her Little Shavers have been the talk of the town since her recent exhibition of paintings of American young fry with a Victorian air. Included in the exhibition, just for fun, were several small figures made of cotton batting, a medium which just occurred to the unpredictable Miss Shaver one day, and now opens up a vast new vista of decorating possibilities.

Born and raised in Texarkana, Arkansas, Miss Shaver now lives in a fashionable East River penthouse, keeps house, for her merchandising-expert sister, Dorothy Shaver, and in between times adds to the general gaiety of life by painting, sculpturing and decorating the apartment walls with surrealist whimsy.

Elsie is very fond of cotton, having been raised in the middle of it. Right now her sculptured cotton figures occupy a whole set of Fifth Avenue windows in one of New York's swankiest department stores.

Next to cotton, she likes turnip greens and black-eyed peas, two other hangovers from her southern childhood. The sisters Shaver have a hard time finding turnip greens in New York. They even have had them flown in from Arkansas at times.

Ingenuity Does It
Lack of materials never bothers Elsie Shaver. It was lack of a bouquet of flowers that first started her on cotton sculpture venture.

"I needed some flowers for a vase," she explains, "and I didn't have any. So I found a roll of cotton batting in the bathroom and made some. It worked so well that I decided to try other things. The figures are tinted with water color, and I sometimes use colorless nail polish to give a skintone. It's lots of fun. I'd like to see school children take it up. And I do believe interior decorators could find many uses for it."

They've Caught On

Elsie's "Little Shavers," on canvas or in cotton, have a quaint old-world charm which threatens to revolutionize even the field of children's fashions. Stylists are talking about restoring some of the prim sugar-and-spice quality of the "Little Shavers" to children's clothes.

Meanwhile Elsie is somewhat dazed by the sudden acclaim which has descended upon her. When things grow too hectic she calms her nerves by painting a new decoration on the kitchen stove or the bathroom mirror, or turning an alcove into a library simply by painting shelves of books on the walls.

"The landlord doesn't like it," she observes gaily, "but we do."

Helps For Housewives

Put leftover bits of vegetables, meats, dressing and sauces in small-sized cups. Cover with waxed paper held in place with cord or rubber bands, and use within 2 days. It will pay to get small dishes for this storage purpose. Half pint jelly jars are satisfactory and take up little room in the refrigerator.

The shells will come off hard-cooked eggs easily if, as soon as eggs are cooked, the shells are slightly cracked and the eggs dropped into cold water.

An old-fashioned wire toaster is convenient for broiling oysters. Rub the wires with melted butter, add oysters in thin layer, brush them with melted butter and sprinkle lightly with salt and paprika. Set in a shallow pan and broil until oysters are plump, turn, brush the other sides with butter, season with salt and pepper and broil 2 minutes.

For the best results chill canned cooked meats before serving them cold. The meat will then easily slip from the can. Cut into slices with knife frequently dipped in cold water.

Put leftover bits of vegetables, meats, dressing and sauces in small-sized cups. Cover with waxed paper held in place with cord or rubber bands, and use within 2 days. It will pay to get small dishes for this storage purpose. Half pint jelly jars are satisfactory and take up little room in the refrigerator.

The shells will come off hard-cooked eggs easily if, as soon as eggs are cooked, the shells are slightly cracked and the eggs dropped into cold water.

An old-fashioned wire toaster is convenient for broiling oysters. Rub the wires with melted butter, add oysters in thin layer, brush them with melted butter and sprinkle lightly with salt and paprika. Set in a shallow pan and broil until oysters are plump, turn, brush the other sides with butter, season with salt and pepper and broil 2 minutes.

For the best results chill canned cooked meats before serving them cold. The meat will then easily slip from the can. Cut into slices with knife frequently dipped in cold water.

Wide World Features

A dressing table does wonders for a room—and it's no great task for any girl to design and decorate, says designer Jo Kim. Here's his recipe:

Take two unpainted chests each having three drawers. Add a big old mirror, one small glass shell about 8 by 24 inches and some leatherette or chintz, about three yards to cover six drawers. Paint the chests. Fasten the mirror between the two, or let it hang like a picture between them. Put the glass shell on rods attached to the sides of the chest.

Mr. Kim planned the arrangement shown here. He painted the chests piano black and covered the drawers with white leatherette outlined with nail heads, but you may have a dressmaker trim instead. The leatherette also covers the headboard of the bed in the room, matches a needle carpet and contrasts well with a salmon satin bedspread and stool cover.

Charms for More Charm This Spring

By DOROTHY ROE

Wide World Fashion Editor

Strange gods and goddesses, ancient good luck charms and miniature figureheads from the clipper ships of long ago march down your suit lapel this spring.

Time was when a lady shrank from wearing her heart on her sleeve. Nowadays she wears it proudly on her lapel, for all the world to see. If her best beau is in the army, she may wear the Mayan God of Victory, as a token of her faith that he will win.

Costume jewelry this season bows to wartime restrictions of vital metals, and turns to ceramics and plastics. Notable among the newest collections are the colorful Mayan ceramics, modeled after the some of the ancient gods of the Incas. You may have them in decoorative lapel pins, necklaces and bracelets: the latter strung on braided leather.

As a bow to our Good Neighbors, many Latin-American motifs are evident in new costume jewelry designs. Pepe and Pepita, the Mexican twins, in bright enamel, are among the most popular lapel gadgets. You wear them both, for luck.

Or you may have a row of ship's prow figurines to provide a decorative touch of color just below your left shoulder. They are faithful reproductions of the figureheads that brought good luck to clipper ships which once sailed the seas.

Blackout jewelry also has its place. Prominent in the lineup is a lapel pin fashioned after the lights of Hollywood Boulevard, with lamps that shine in the dark.

MODERN VOODOO produces the ancient Mayan gods in colorful ceramics. The lapel pin is the God of Victory, while on the necklace are the Thunder God, the Medicine Man and the Lion

Sugar Saver

Mix some raisins with apples or apple pie and you can lighten up about 3 tablespoons on the sugar. Spread 3 tablespoons honey over the filling before adjusting the top crust.

Rock to Comfort

The new rocking chair'll get you if you're buying for comfort this spring. Predictions put the rocker back into the den, the second sitting room or the informal living room.

Velvet Ribbons

To freshen velvet ribbons or trimmings, run them back and forth (wrong side next to steam) 3 inches in front of a steaming teakettle. Hang on rack until perfectly dry.

Clean Windows

If you clean your windows with powdered cleaner, moistened with water, wipe the mixture off the windows before it hardens. This will help prevent streaking and the powder from scattering about.

The woman autoist posed for a snapshot in front of the fallen pillars of an ancient temple in Greece. "Don't get the car in the picture," she said, "or my husband will think I ran into the place."

The major menaces on the highway are drunken driving, uncontrolled thumbing and indiscriminate spooning. To put it briefly: Hic, hike and hug.

Lady of the House—I hear your daughter is very happily married, Dinah.

Dinah—Yas'm. Ah'll say she is! Her husband is skered to death of her.

A house on two or three acres, a station wagon, two cars, a gasoline grass-cutter, a bed of flowers, a saddle horse, a poodle, six white rabbits, a couple of ducks—isn't farming, though it's surprising the number of folks who seem to think of it as such.

Doctor—Congratulations, old man, your wife has presented you with quadruplets.

Victim (his jaw dropping)—Honest, Doc? Four crying out loud!

A farmer is a man who makes his money on the farm and spends it in town, while an agriculturist is a man who makes his money in town and spends it on the farm.

Teacher—If your father gave your mother $5 on Friday, and $2 on Saturday, and $3 on Monday, what would she have?

Pupil—A fit.

Progress always involves risks. You can't steal second base and keep your foot on first.

Young Mother—John, I've decided on a name for the baby. We will call her Imogene.

John was lost in serious thought for a few minutes. He did not like the name. Presently, he said:

John—That's nice. My first sweetheart was named Imogene, and she'll take it as a compliment.

Young Mother (sternly)—We will call her Mary, after my mother.

The man who doesn't show up at his office until noon is either a plutocrat or never will be one.

Wife—I was a fool when I married you.

Husband—I guess you were, but I was so infatuated at the time that I didn't notice it.

A man is something that can see a pretty ankle three blocks away while driving an automobile in a crowded city street, but will fail to notice, in the wide, open countryside, the approach of a locomotive the size of forty and eight box cars.

Harry—Darling, as I kissed you, love was born.

Edith—That's fine, dear, but wipe that birthmark off your lips.

Said the little calf to the silo: Is my fodder in there?

Wife—I don't think I look 30, do you, dear?

Hubby—No, darling, not now; you used to!

Have you heard about the Dumb Dora who went to a garage mechanic to have her knee-action checked?

Edward—Gif is pie for me.

Irving—Yes, I see you just took another slice.

When a little bird tells you something, don't repeat it until you find out whether the little bird is a cuckoo.

Mother—Junior, how would you like to take your castor oil?

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE

Chapter 21
Truck Driver

SHARON was just setting the table for dinner when the phone rang. What now? she wondered anxiously as she went to answer.

"Hello, sis," Dennis' voice was so low she could scarcely recognize it.

"Yes, Dennis. Anything the matter?"

"No. But I won't be home for dinner."

Oh, too bad. I made you a lemon pie too," she said, chattily. "What's up? More over-time?"

"Listen!" he interrupted almost crossly. "I'm in a hurry. Can't talk. I won't be home tonight. Maybe for a couple of days."

"A couple of days! What's the matter?" Alarmed at once. "Are you hurt? In trouble?"

"Neither. Don't worry. See you later."

He hung up then before she could answer.

Troubled by fears she could not name, Sharon stood at the phone a few minutes, tempted to call Mr. Goodwin, ask him to investigate for her. Then, slowly, she shook her head. That wasn't fair to Dennis. After all, he was no longer a baby. She mustn't bind him with apron strings.

Mechanically, she rescued the pie, browned its meringue in the oven, turned the baking potatoes. Too bad to waste a perfectly good dinner, she mourned.

But it wasn't wasted. Tom Stafford dropped in on his way home from the office.

"Just thought I'd see how the ankle was," he said, easily, "besides, I missed you at the office today. Not sick are you?"

She shook her head. "Oh, no. But—" she accepted the excuse Tom suggested, "my ankle bothered me so much during the night, I didn't get much sleep. So I just decided to take the day off."

"Smart girl." He glanced over her shoulder toward the kitchen. "Where's Dennis?"

"Oh, working some more over-time," she tried to say casually. "He just phoned."

Tom sniffed. "That wouldn't—by any chance—be a home-made pie, I see?"

"Yes and not by any chance!" Sharon laughed. "I don't suppose you'd like some."

Tom dropped his hat, his brief case onto the sofa, pulled a chair up to Dennis' place at the table, unfolded the napkin. "If you coaxed me, a little, I'd stay for dinner," he said meekly.

"Yes," Sharon laughed. "You look as if you needed coaxing!" And she dropped the thick sirloin steak onto the broiler to sputter while they ate the salad.

Little Party

AND under the alchemy of Tom's infectious good cheer, the little dinner became a party. Some of the tautness went out of Sharon's strained nerves as she laughed with him. Life just couldn't stay serious and menacing with Tom around. And if he had set any wheels in motion to delay or destroy his country's war preparation, he certainly had no scruples about it. No man who could stew away the dinner he had with all the enthusiastic gusto of a small boy had any regrets. Either he had been utterly duped by some superior or he was completely ruthless.

"What happened at the office today?" she asked finally. He shook his head, reached for another biscuit. "It was a madhouse. Los Angeles called three times on the telephone. Some more orders came in. Mr. Goodwin didn't show up until noon. We finally got the plant going again."

"Oh, good," Sharon, watching him covertly begin to clear the table. "Just what did happen to make the whole plant go out?"

Tom looked up at her steadily. "Somebody monkeyed with the circuit breaker."

For the hundredth time, Sharon marvelled at his self-control. Not by the faintest twitch of a muscle did he betray his guilt.

"But who would do a thing like that?" she demanded.

He shrugged. "Don't ask me. Somebody who knows his electricity. Somebody who wanted to slow things up."

"You mean—sabotage?"

"What else could it be?"

Sharon rattled the coffee cups to hide her own agitation. "A mistake, maybe?"

He laughed, a short, abrupt gesture. "That was no mistake. Whoever switched those wires knew exactly what he was about."

No doubt, Sharon agreed silently. And no mistake about his cleverness right now either. Tom knew well that if he could convince her of his innocence—and what better way than to lay the cards out on the table boldly—she would be his chief defense.

"How much real damage did it do?"

"Plenty. We had to replace all the wires throughout. And new switches—the works! The boys worked steadily, twenty-four hours a day, since it happened. The stuff promised for Saturday won't get out until tomorrow. Means that just that many planes are held up at the other end of the line. And, delays are costly no matter what way you look at it." Then, changing the subject so adroitly it seemed perfectly spontaneous, he said, "Man alive, this is the most wonderful pie I ever tasted."

and with their son, John H. Divine, Jr., of Bridgeport, Conn., attended the Metropolitan Opera on Saturday.

Miss Lilah seaman of Brooklyn spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Charles F. Taylor.

Miss Dorothy Andrews of Hempstead, L. I., spent the Lincoln's birthday week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Andrews.

Miss Marie Fleckenstein and

Sharon smiled, helped him to a second piece. "Better than mother used to make."

"My mother couldn't have made a pie to save her life. She was—"

he grimaced, "a career woman. I grew up on canned pork and beans and delicatessen potato salad."

"So that's why you are such an advocate of woman's-places-in-the-home," she challenged.

"Hell no. Some women—like my mother—make more successful careers than most men." He smiled at her slyly. "But pretty girls with shiny black hair and blue eyes and dimples in their chins should stay home and make lemon pies and keep out of offices where they don't belong."

"Is that so?" She knew he was baiting her and, for once, refused to bite. "Well, perhaps you are right."

"I know darned well, I'm right," he said, half-seriously. "Why don't you get out of it, Sharon?"

"Get out?"

"Quit this job. I'll get you another job if you must have one," he offered, and there was no mistaking his earnestness. "Not out here, maybe, but I've got lots of friends in Pittsburgh."

Sharon just looked at him. Two suggestions that she leave town and both in the same day! The Countess suggested New York and now Tom wanting to send her to Pittsburgh!

"Are you back on that topic, again?" she laughed at him, and at the apprehension adding pounds to the weight of fear within her.

Tom grinned. "Just a single-track mind, huh. But if you'd just take my advice—"

"I'd be out of a good job," she finished, dryly. "So forget it. When you have something really sensible to advise, maybe I'll listen."

Tom's lips went on smiling but his eyes held deep shadows. "Have it your way, my sweet. I hope you know what you're doing."

"I do,"—with confidence that smashed all at pieces inside.

Tom insisted on washing the dishes, his coat off, an apron around his middle. When they'd finished, he picked up his hat. "Thanks for a wonderful dinner. I'm going to beat it now so you can get to bed early. You look tired."

She was tired. Goodwin had said secrets were "dangerous baggage." Dangerous, maybe, and terribly heavy.

New Job

BUT in the morning her burden of responsibilities seemed bearable, anyway. And, after the strain of the exciting week-end, the familiar routine of the office was reassuring. Even her concern for Dennis seemed out of proportion. Then Mr. Goodwin arrived, called her into his private office at once.

Should she tell him of the Countess' visit, her strange proposition, her implied threat? Undoubtedly, she would insure protection for herself against the vitriol of Edda's jealousy. Still, what could the Countess do, for all her jealous fury? Mr. Goodwin would demand the reason for the quarrel—and then laugh when he heard it. No man took a woman's jealousy that seriously! It did seem ridiculous—now. Sharon closed the door quietly, faced across the broad, polished desk.

"Any developments?"

"Tom called last evening. He insists he knows nothing of how this accident at the plant happened."

Goodwin brushed that aside with a shrug. "Of course." Then, unsmiling, he fixed her with eyes cold as grey steel. "The next load of valves is ready to go. Twice as many as we sent last time—and lost! These must not be lost!"

Sharon nodded, waited for him to go on.

"I am going to send them by boat this time."

"Oh, but why? There's more danger of a boat's being sunk off the coast here than—"

In this case, there is less danger of the shipmen's arriving at the wrong destination," Goodwin said curtly. And the set of his tight lips didn't encourage any questions.

"Yes, Mr. Goodwin."

"A boat will be in this evening. If we get the stuff down there just before midnight, it can be loaded at once, moved out to the harbor before dawn breaks."

"I see," she murmured automatically. She didn't see just why he was telling her all this, however.

"There are two trucks loaded now and waiting at the plant."

"Why not? That lost truck disappeared. I've since learned, before it left the city limits. Besides, the drivers themselves, even Macdonald believe those trucks are not leaving until tomorrow morning. That's what I want him to think. I can trust you to keep the secret. I am not sure that I could trust anyone else."

"I see," she whispered, her voice husky with excitement.

"Tomorrow morning, these trucks will put out of the plant yard, loaded with dummy crates. If anything gets lost," he said dryly, "let's count on it's being those dummies!"

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Heart's Desire

New York — Two weeks ago 11 artists were assigned to paint murals on the walls of the navy receiving barracks in Brooklyn.

Soon ships and maps and former naval heroes brightened the rooms.

But sailors were in almost continual conference with the artists, pleading and arguing.

They won the argument. Today, a lovely mermaid beams from the library wall.

Safe Evidence

Chattanooga, Tenn. — Mrs. Mildred Anderson saw a newspaper photograph and learned that her son had participated in the navy raids on the Gilbert and Marshall Islands and that he was safe.

The picture showed seamen repairing damage to their vessel, and among them she recognized her son, Jimmy Verne Anderson.

Transportation Note

Tucson, Ariz. — Ten-year-old Betty Pauline Elmer brightened the La Fiesta De Los Vaqueros parade with her miniature prairie schooner, drawn by a team of cocker spaniels.

On either side of the wagon was painted the slogan "Use Your Dogs and Save Rubber."

But No Flats Fixed

El Paso, Tex. — The Rev. Theo H. Evers was urging members of his Zion Lutheran congregation to attend Lenten services.

"Watchmen will be stationed," he intoned, "to protect your tires."

Lovely View

Olympia, Wash. — Statehouse officials squirmed slightly when pedal-pushing employees demanded installation of bicycle racks on the capitol grounds.

Wait till they sit down for their next meeting. Somebody wants to ride to work horseback and there's a request for a stable.

Victory Torch

Chicago — J. A. Beuparant is going to observe George Washington's birthday anniversary tomorrow by lighting a candle—but his is no ordinary candle.

Made of solid wax, it measures 18 feet, 3 inches; 26 inches in diameter at the base, 16 inches across the top, and weighs 2,205 pounds.

Beuparant said he calls it his victory candle and he plans to light it on every holiday until the war is over. It stands in the backyard of his home—on Washington Boulevard.

Major-General Herr, Cavalry Chief, to Retire

Major General J. K. Herr, Chief of Cavalry, will retire from active service on February 28, 1942, upon his own application after more than 43 years of continuous active service.

During his tour of office as Chief of Cavalry, which began in March, 1938, General Herr has taken every opportunity to improve and modernize the Cavalry arm.

General Herr was born at White House Station, New Jersey, on October 1, 1878. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1902, and commissioned a second lieutenant of Cavalry.

General Herr's early service included a tour in the Philippines, service as an instructor at the United States Military Academy and duty in the Hawaiian Islands.

During the World War he served as Chief of Staff of the 30th Division in France and participated in the Somme Defensive, Ypres-Lys Offensive and the Somme Offensive.

From November, 1920, until August, 1922, General Herr served with the American forces in Germany, at Coblenz, during which time he was Assistant Chief of Staff for Supplies and later Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations.

Upon his return to the United States he served in the Military Intelligence Division, War Department General Staff, until July 1, 1924.

He commanded the 7th Cavalry at Fort Bliss, Texas, from September, 1935, to March, 1938, when he was appointed Chief of Cavalry.

General Herr was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, together with the Belgian Order of Leopold, for extraordinary service as Chief of Staff of the 30th Division, American Expeditionary Forces, in the capture of Voormezele and Lock Eight in the Ypres Sector in Belgium in September, 1918, and in the breaking of the Hindenburg line at Bellicourt, France, and in operations against the Selle River and the Sambre Canal, September 29 - October 20, 1918.

WASHINGTON, N. J. — William ("Caterpillar Bill") Sheats, who annually forecasts the winter weather by the hairiness of caterpillars, declined to make any definite prediction for the coming season. "I'm not going to let those treacherous Japs know what the weather conditions are going to be," said he.

Although many persons say they miss the regular weather forecasts they probably won't mind not knowing how hot it may be this summer.

Texas 'Guerrillas' Ready for Defense

Sheriffs Form Group of Men to Stop Landings.

BEAUMONT, TEXAS.—This corner of Texas is a far piece from the famed cow country in the Panhandle but a lot of men down here know how to handle their six-guns.

For that reason 30 of them are organizing a guerrilla band, equipped for home defense duties if need arises.

Old heads are taking charge. Sheriffs of five southeast Texas counties and cattlemen who know the value of fast, straight shooting are the leaders, banding their men for night patrols and action on the Gulf coast.

There will be a horse cavalry unit, made up of Texans who are more at home in the saddle than in a car.

The "guerrillas," as they call themselves, are rated men who "know how to shoot and how to fight." They believe they are the first such group to organize for home defense in the nation.

The five sheriffs are W. W. Richardson of Jefferson county, Pat Lowe of Liberty, Miles Jordan of Hardin, Sam Scherer of Chambers and Dick Stanfield of Orange, who was once a Texas Ranger. Dan Hines of Orange, another member, is a cattleman who formerly rode with the Rangers.

Each sheriff has named five captains, each an expert with a shooting iron.

The guerrillas say they are ready to help repel any landing party on the coast. They will help guard industrial areas in their counties.

In Spanish guerrilla means "little war." The southeast Texas guerrillas promise to be ready for just that.

SPEED TRAPS ARE USED TO CURB TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

CHICAGO.—The speed trap system—with all of its good points and none of the bad—is being used in four middle western cities to curb speed law violators, according to the American Municipal Association.

Known officially as the speed-check zone system, the new method is being used in Minneapolis, Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Kansas City, where police department developed it. The system was installed in Minneapolis and Fort Wayne in the last few months.

Five hundred speed-check zones are located throughout Minneapolis. The zones were widely publicized before being set up and zone markings are clearly visible to motorists.

Each zone is marked by bright yellow bars painted on the roadway 176 feet apart. (The bars are spaced 110 feet apart in Kansas City and Fort Wayne, and 113 feet apart in Cincinnati, but the check method is the same in all cities.)

As motorists cross the first line, a police officer equipped with stop watch and various tables notes the time it takes for cars to travel through the zone.

The check is facilitated by mirrors set at each end of the zone.

Grateful Tentmates Hail Private as an Inventor

CAMP BOWIE, TEXAS.—Private Gerald Sorrells of Waco is a good soldier, but if he wasn't an inventor in civilian life, he missed his calling. At least his grateful tentmates are inclined to think so.

A member of headquarters company, Thirty-sixth division, Sorrells decided there wasn't any sense in scampering around on a cold floor these chilly mornings. He devised a means of lighting a stove in the cold early hours and thereby eliminated the necessity of even getting out from under the cozy comfort of warm army blankets.

He attached a strong cord to the jet of the stove and ran it across the floor of his tent and under the covers of his bed. Awakening a few minutes before the first bugle blast sounds, he simply gives the cord a yank while still in bed. The gas is turned on and the pilot in the stove does the rest.

Colonel Turns Composer

Col. Arthur M. Edwards, United States Army, retired, a former Kingston boy and now a resident of Contoocook, N. H., has turned composer during his retirement and one of his marches, "Yankee Crazy," was recently broadcast by the United States Marine Band over the Red network.

Another of his popular songs is "Molly O'Toole." Col. Edwards writes both words and music. His father was Prof. Lindley M. Edwards who founded Old Ulster Academy in this city. Permanently injured in army service he retired and took up the writing of music as a hobby.

A graduate of the class of 1893, United States Military Academy, he is a member of the U. S. Army and Navy Bandsmen's Association, and publishes his own compositions.

Red Cross War Fund

A substantial contribution toward the $45,000 American Red Cross War Fund to be raised by the Ulster County Committee will help keep the fighting men, healthy, happy and efficient.

Infantry Journal Praises Dispatches Clark Lee Writes

Washington, Feb. 21.—High praise came today to Clark Lee, Associated Press war correspondent in the Philippines, from the Infantry Journal, semi-official publication edited by officers.

His dispatches were editorially described as "the best this war has produced on any front."

The publication went on to say that while "some correspondents may have exhibited more literary skill," Lee's dispatches "seem to stand high in this respect."

"Clark Lee's reports," said the journal, "show vividly the close-line fighting in the jungle where fields of fire are measured almost in inches rather than yards. He shows us the most difficult action that tanks can undertake—thrusting through the matted undergrowth toward the unseen enemy. x x x."

The editorial said Lee's reports gave a clear picture of the value of accurate infantry fire "as well as the tenacity and endurance of the Philippine and the American soldier."

"Inexcellent," was the word used to describe the correspondent's reports of military activities without overstepping the mark and disclosing secrets.

Food Tips

FROM THE COOKBOOKLETS
NEW REFRIGERATOR DESSERTS ARE PRESENTED IN LATEST BOOKLET

A favorite way to serve Baked Alaska is in this kind of a sandwich with chocolate sauce as topping—see the new Refrigerator Dessert Cookbooklet for a grand variety of chilled and frozen delectables.

A truly modern creation is Baked Alaska and it's rapidly becoming one of America's favorite desserts. There's something intriguing about browning a frozen dessert in a hot oven—it doesn't sound logical—but it is! One taste of a luscious, creamy Alaska will convince anyone that it's tops no matter how it's made.

An interesting variation of this famous dessert is the sandwich form—especially recommended for party menus.

Baked Alaska Sandwich
1 layer of cake (square or oblong)
1 quart ice cream
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cut cake into halves and trim to fit deep refrigerator tray. Line tray with heavy waxed paper so that paper extends 2 inches beyond each side. Pack ice cream into tray and freeze until hard. Lift ice cream from tray with ends of waxed paper and place one of the halves of cake in tray. Place ice cream on top, then the second half of cake. Chill thoroughly. Beat egg whites until nearly stiff, beat in sugar gradually, add vanilla and beat until stiff. Place a board at least 1½ inches thick between 2 pieces of corrugated paper, cover top with waxed paper and place cake and ice cream on top. Cover top and sides of cake with meringue.

There are 250 more delicious recipes in the new Refrigerator Dessert Book, 16th in our series of 20. The first 15 in the set are: 1—500 Snacks; 2—500 Delicious Dishes from Leftovers; 3—250 Classic Cake Recipes; 4—250 Ways to Prepare Poultry and Game Birds; 5—250 Superb Pies and Pastries; 6—250 Delicious Soups; 7—500 Delicious Salads; 8—250 Ways to Prepare Meat; 9—250 Fish and Sea Food Recipes; 10—300 Ways to Serve Eggs; 11—250 Ways to Serve Fresh Vegetables; 12—250 Delectable Desserts; 13—250 Ways of Serving Potatoes; 14—500 Tasty Sandwiches; 15—The Candy Book.

To order by mail, send one coupon and 16c for each booklet (13c for booklets 1 to 15) to the Cookbooklet Department, Kingston Daily Freeman, Freeman Square, Kingston, N. Y.

Good Taste Today

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

HOTTEST OBJECTS BECAUSE GUEST SENT HER BATH MAT AND TOWELS

To send a thank-you note to one's hostess after having stayed in her house, is a requirement of etiquette. To send her a present is NOT. Nevertheless, such a present is not only quite proper in most cases, but is looked upon as a natural impulse that is understood and appreciated by most people.

Lately, however, I have learned that this perfectly obvious impulse to say "thank you" is resented by a number of people who feel it to be an attempted payment. A new objector brings up the angle of suitability.

A writer explains that she does not like, but neither does she resent, thank-you presents. But she does think one which she has just received from the girl friend of her son, was in particularly bad taste. It was a bath mat and two towels.

"These are of expensive quality and very pretty, but hardly the thing for her to send me. It really upsets me because I think my son is thinking too much of a girl who is so lacking in good taste—and sense."

In answer to this, I think it would be a mistake to judge her so harshly. If your bathroom is in the same colors, I think it was natural for her to think of your bathroom when she saw these particular towels. On the other hand, if your bathroom is shabby and if your towels are much the worse for wear, then it was thoughtful of her to run the chance of giving you the impression that she noticed the shortcomings of your house.

It is curious but true, that unless we know someone very well, it is best not to send presents that can be listed among necessities. But then these may have been looked upon by her as they would perhaps by most people, as trimmings.

Using the Tea Set

Dear Mrs. Post: May I use the two pots in my tea set at an afternoon tea? And please tell me exactly what the little bowl, called the "waste bowl," I believe, is supposed to be used for.

Answer: The taller pot is for coffee; but if you have no hot water kettle you might use the coffee pot for this purpose by finding a lamp stand that will fit under it. (It is not difficult to do since little alcohol lamps are used for so many types of utensils). Or if you have a kettle, you then use the coffee pot for coffee, or else for chocolate. In the latter case you can fill the bowl with whipped cream.

The waste bowl, as it seems to be known, or "slop bowl," as I always have known it, is used principally to pour off the small amount of boiling water that is first poured into the cups to heat them before being filled with tea. It is also used to put the "slops" from a cup that is rinsed of tea leaves before pouring the fresh tea into it for anyone who would like a second cup.

Moose Will Hold Initiation Sunday

Fifteen Candidates Listed for Membership

The Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, will confer the initiatory degree on a class of 15 candidates on Sunday, February 22, at the lodge hall. In recognition of conducting the degree on Washington's birthday the Supreme Lodge has presented the Kingston chapter with two beautiful portraits of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Following the degree these pictures will be officially presented to the lodge by Governor Charles M. Lord.

Especially significant of this occasion will be the appearance of the newly organized degree team of the local lodge who will conduct the degree rites for this event. It has been several years since the Kingston lodge was represented by a degree team and indications point to a large assemblage of members from various visiting lodges as well as a large representation of Kingston members. The degree team has already accepted several invitations from lodges throughout the state to exemplify degree work.

The following members comprise the degree team: Governor, Charles M. Lord; junior governor, Joseph F. Ross, Jr.; prelate, Anthony Slezak; orator, Edward Heckel; past governor, Anthony J. Erena; sergeant-at-arms, Lionel Senecal; sound and lighting effects, Ralph Mitchell.

Following the degree a buffet supper will be served.

Allied Warships Sink Jap Ship

ese invasion forces had been thrown back in bloody fighting west of the Bilin river, 75 miles northeast of Rangoon, with British troops launching repeated counterattacks. Casualties were heavy on both sides.

Supported by American volunteer group fighters, RAF bombers and Hurricanes, British Imperial defenders were reported still holding their lines intact against increasing pressure.

The enemy tried to cross the river near the mouth of the Bilin, but our troops threw them back into the river," a British communiqué said.

Dispatches from Chungking said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese veterans, aiding in the defense of Burma, crushed a Japanese attempt to cross a river west of Chengsen, in the northernmost tip of the island.

Japanese bombers were officially declared to have destroyed 27 planes, aloft or ground, at Kalidjati Field 60 miles east of Batavia, and a communiqué said "widespread destruction, as well as fires, was caused to other military objectives."

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported the Batavia raid without details.

Dutch forces, whose aerial support includes some United States squadrons, sought to blunt the Japanese pincers groping toward Java, nerve center of the Allied war effort in the Pacific.

Ready for Action

Aneta, Dutch news agency, said the Indies army is ready for full action virtually unimpaired by losses in delaying engagements on outlying islands. It asserted that the Allied fleet will be able to concentrate for the fighting rather than split up on offensive and defensive missions, and that United Nations air forces can operate in full strength. Coastal defenses were believed capable of checking the first Japanese blows.

The only question now is whether the Japanese will attempt an invasion first from Sumatra, to the west of Java across the 14-to-56-mile-wide Sunda Strait, or from Bali, the picturesque island which lies only a mile off Java's east coast.

Swastika symbols—the markings of German war planes—were reported in a Royal Australian Air Force communiqué to have been borne by several aerial raiders which struck at Bathurst island in an attack correlated with a mass assault upon Darwin Thursday.

Denying a statement by the Tokyo radio that Japanese bombers avoided a hospital ship in the harbor at Darwin, northern Australia, Prime Minister John Curtin declared "The hospital ship was attacked and there were casualties."

Tokyo dispatches quoted by the Rome radio said Japanese planes had bombed the Dutch East Indies island of Flores, midway between Bali and Timor, where two Japanese parties were reported to have landed yesterday.

Timor is half Dutch and half Portuguese and the press of neutral Portugal protested today against a "new violation" of its territory. The Japanese invasion followed occupation of strategic points by Dutch and Australian troops December 18.

The Portuguese National Assembly was called to meet in Lisbon this afternoon to hear a statement by Premier Antonio De Oliveira Salazar.

Summarizing Japanese claims in the seven-day conquest of Singapore, imperial headquarters in Tokyo declared 73,000 British Imperial troops, 8,000 of them wounded, were captured and said war booty included 300 field guns, 2,000 machineguns and 200 tanks and armored cars.

The cost for Japan was said to be limited to about 3,000 men killed and wounded.

Seminole Indian Chief

Didn't Pull Punches

Oseola, wily half-breed leader of the Seminoles, regarded murderous deceit as a fair weapon in his relentless warfare against the United States government in defending the right of his people to live in the thick, steamy everglades of Florida. His cunning method was to obtain supplies for his men by promising at intervals to keep the peace, and then later ambushing scouting parties of American soldiers in the fastnesses of the swampy grasslands. Though it was done under extreme provocation, it is generally admitted that the government itself was not fair with Oseola when, under a flag of truce, it seized the savage and put him into the irons in which he died. The Seminole war lasted seven years, ending in 1842, and cost thousands of lives and more than $20,000,000. The vanquished redskins were sent to reservations west of the Mississippi. One band of Seminoles was never caught. Its descendants are the few hundred harmless Indians now residing in the Florida Everglades.

Maroon Cagers Wallop Ellenville in League Game 45 to 25

Sagendorf, Zelle Pace Locals With 20 Points Apiece

Second Win in Circuit for Kingston; Two Games Slated Here During Next Week

Kingston High School's basketball team continued on the winning road last night in Ellenville as Rod Sagendorf and George "Zeke" Zelle came to the front and uncorked a wild scoring affair which buried Ellenville High under the score of 45 to 25.

Both Sagendorf and Zelle, two of the hottest players in the DUSO League, registered 20 points which is something of a record. Both cagers threw in nine fields and two fouls to mount up their scoring totals.

Ellenville couldn't do much of anything after the Maroon and White basketers piled up a 12 to 5 lead in the first period and then continued in the second session by taking a 23 to 13 lead. Coach G. Warren Kias' cagers went to town in every period with their scores coming in two figures while Ellenville had to be content with nine as its biggest total.

With Sagendorf and Zelle sparking the wild attack which brought Kingston its second straight league triumph, Coach Kias brought on his reserves and exactly 11 players saw action during the wild contest.

Kingston's other five points were gathered in by Captain Ray Herrick with two, Ed Luedtke with two and Weisaupt one. There wasn't much left in the scoring column after Zelle and Sagendorf showed their ability.

Tennenbaum and Nail saved Ellenville from complete destruction by scoring 10 apiece. This was another game in which Ellenville, a first half threat, failed to get started and thereby suffered another crushing loss.

The victory for Kingston doesn't mean too much except for the fact that the Kiasmen may land up in a runner-up position for the second half championship. Middletown is still to be defeated and no team has a chance until that feat is taken care of.

Saugerties High will appear at the municipal auditorium Tuesday and on Friday Monticello plays a league game here.

City Bowling Tourney Will Be Held at Emerick's Alleys

First Action Starts March 21; Deadline Is March 10 for All Entries in Annual Event

At a meeting of the Kingston Bowling Association last night at the Y. M. C. A. it was decided to hold the annual city bowling tournament at Homer Emerick's Recreation alleys starting Saturday, March 21. It will continue for two week-ends.

The same procedure as last year will be used, with the five-man event listed for Saturday and Sunday, March 21 and 22, and the singles and doubles slated for Saturday and Sunday, April 4 and 5. Eight alleys will be used.

All entries for this year's championships will close March 10, with averages official as of Friday, February 27. Under a new ruling this season, a bowler must have the highest league average in classifying himself.

The classifications remain the same as in previous tournaments, with 850 and above for Class A, 170 singles and 350 doubles. Class B will be from 750 to 849 and the singles and doubles from 300 to 349 and any fraction.

Peter Keresman, president of the K.B.A., heads the general committee that will include all members of the executive committee of that organization and presidents of the various leagues.

Ad Jones, Jack Martin and Ken Van Eiten were selected as the program committee. The schedule and prize committee will include Charles Tiano, secretary; Marty Kellenberger, Bill Scully, Eltinge Auchmoody was named chairman.

In the Booster League at the Central Recreation alleys last night Ted Young of Dittmars blasted out the highest three game series of 556, highlighted by a high single game in the match with the Knitters of 245.

J. Mazzuca of the Colas had the high single score of the league last night with a 251 in his first game against the I.M.M. team.

Besides rolling a high single score Mazzuca also picked up the highest triple in that special of 325. L. Jacobs of the I.M.M. bowlers had a 213 single.

Van Buren of the Barn keepers cracked out a 223 single and a 514 triple but it wasn't enough to trim the Ollers who won two games. In winning one game, the Barn had the high game of 844.

C. Ostrander, with games of 172, 196 and 181, helped Rows defeat Kauders in two games with his 549 triple. High single score went to L. Albert of the Kauders with 205.

Bad Tierney had 180 single and 508 three game total and that gave Piepers something to work on as they turned back the Guarantees in two games.

Young of Dittmars was the big difference of defeat or triumph with his 245 and 556. However, H. Pierce had 213 and 208 for a 553 triple while R. Henry came through with a 203 single game, all of which helped the club to take two games from the Knitters.

O. Schaller, Jr., of the losers slammed out a 216 single game. Kelders scored two victories over the Ramblers with Slover pacing the attack with a high single of 213 and high triple of 526.

Y. M. C. A. American

In the Y. M. C. A. American Division bowling at the "Y" alleys last night the Freeman No. 1 team moved closer to clinching the championship by defeating the Pontiacs in three straight.

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—A tug-of-war contest between a U. S. army team from Governor's Island and a squad from the U. S. Coast Guard at Ellis Island has been arranged for the K. of C. track meet in Madison Square Garden on March 14. National A.A.U. rules will prevail.

Kampouris Breaks Finger

Havana, Feb. 21 (AP)—Alex Kampouris, utility infielder with the Brooklyn Dodgers, will be lost to the National League champions for three weeks of a broken little finger on his right hand.

Kampouris was injured yesterday at the first hitting drill of the season. During Mickey Owen's stay in the cage, the bat slipped from the catcher's hand and struck Kampouris' finger.

The committee on scorekeepers and arrangements.

Bowlers can roll with as many teams as he is a regular member of in a sanctioned league. Any combination of two bowlers, however, cannot bowl more than twice together.

The entry fee for the tournament is $1.25. Tournament blanks will be available at the respective bowling establishments next week.

Bowling Roundup

Booster League Notes

In the Booster League at the Central Recreation alleys last night Ted Young of Dittmars blasted out the highest three game series of 556, highlighted by a high single game in the match with the Knitters of 245.

J. Mazzuca of the Colas had the high single score of the league last night with a 251 in his first game against the I.M.M. team.

Besides rolling a high single score Mazzuca also picked up the highest triple in that special of 325. L. Jacobs of the I.M.M. bowlers had a 213 single.

Van Buren of the Barn keepers cracked out a 223 single and a 514 triple but it wasn't enough to trim the Ollers who won two games. In winning one game, the Barn had the high game of 844.

C. Ostrander, with games of 172, 196 and 181, helped Rows defeat Kauders in two games with his 549 triple. High single score went to L. Albert of the Kauders with 205.

Bad Tierney had 180 single and 508 three game total and that gave Piepers something to work on as they turned back the Guarantees in two games.

Young of Dittmars was the big difference of defeat or triumph with his 245 and 556. However, H. Pierce had 213 and 208 for a 553 triple while R. Henry came through with a 203 single game, all of which helped the club to take two games from the Knitters.

O. Schaller, Jr., of the losers slammed out a 216 single game. Kelders scored two victories over the Ramblers with Slover pacing the attack with a high single of 213 and high triple of 526.

Y. M. C. A. American

In the Y. M. C. A. American Division bowling at the "Y" alleys last night the Freeman No. 1 team moved closer to clinching the championship by defeating the Pontiacs in three straight.

Recreations Plan Other Big Attractions for Quintet; Original Rens May Come

News concerning both the Kingston Recreation baseball team and basketball outfit has been noteworthy the last few days.

While the quintet has been holding most of the current headlines, the Rec board members are all ready looking into the picture for the 1942 diamond campaign.

Last week it was announced that a benefit basketball game would be sponsored by the Recreations for Billy Ostrom, the outstanding pitcher from Poughkeepsie, who played a big part with the local team last summer.

Billy is suffering from a curvature of the spine and an operation will be costly. The operation may restore Ostrom in playing form for 1942.

Although nothing definite has been planned, the game will probably be held sometime in March. Besides the local interest, Ostrom's home town of Poughkeepsie, also is lending a hand in making the game a complete sell-out.

Meanwhile, the Recreation baseball heads are seriously thinking about "Whitey" Tulacz, another Poughkeepsie star, who may be in the livery of the Recs this summer.

Tulacz, who has played in the Canadian-American League, is a member of the Lancaster team of the Interstate League and holds little interest of returning there.

Last week Tulacz returned his contract to the club and reliable information hints that "Whitey" is thinking about signing with the Recs. Last year he played with the Recreations when they traveled to meet the Bushwicks at Dexter Park.

The signing of Tulacz would be a terrific boost for the local club which must secure a number of players for the coming campaign. More definite announcement is expected later on.

The other half of the Recreation's sports committee is looking forward to Wednesday night's basketball attraction at the municipal auditorium when the strong Harlem Yankees appear here in a special exhibition.

The Recs got off to a grant start last week by turning back the Detroit Eagles in a thriller all the way. Recreation officials opine that many of the local fans who missed last week's game will be in the stands this time.

The return of Bernie Flegel and Sammy Kaplan, two local favorites, made a big hit with local fans. Both of these outstanding cagers continued to give Kingston fans the best in basketball as they did with Barney Sedran's Celtics a few seasons ago.

Word also has been reported that Jerry Bush, All-American at St. John's University will be with the Recs this week. Bush missed last week's opener due to an injury.

The Recreations plan to bring other outstanding pro clubs here following the Harlem Yankee game. The Rochester Seagrams, the Original Renaissance and the Philadelphia Spas are listed for future dates at the municipal auditorium.

60,000 Army Arsenal Workers Back MacArthur

Sixty thousand civilian workers in the manufacturing arsenals of the Army Ordnance Department have drawn up a message of encouragement to General Douglas MacArthur and his men. The message was submitted to the office of Major General Charles M. Wesson, Chief of Ordnance, and sent by him to General MacArthur. It reads as follows:

"Sixty thousand civilian workers in the manufacturing arsenals of the United States Army Ordnance Department salute you. You are fighting out there for us. We are working night and day here for you.

Radio Chart Listening Post

by
Tom MacPherson

Your morale is due for another shot in the arm this Sunday, when
"Daughters of Uncle
Sam" takes to the Blue at 7:30 p.m. Said injections will be administered once a week for six successive Sundays,
each shot being prescribed on behalf of a different institution.

"Daughters of Uncle Sam," in addition to being the title of the series, is the name of its 35-piece girl orchestra. Three of the daughters double as a vocal trio, and some others as a drum corps.
Each week the girls
will present a famous daughter of Unk, and she, in return for the tribute paid her, will do homage to the one of the six institutions being appealed for. The Army is the hero of the premiere broadcast,
with the other five programs honoring the Red Cross, the Navy, the Marine Corps, civilian defense workers, and us
—the people of the home front.

Hold onto your hat when the girls whiz by.
For in their half-hour they intend to include, beside the drum corps, vocal trio, and guest celebrity mentioned above, old songs that helped win other wars, new martial and patriotic airs, a swing session, community singing by the studio audience, and a vocal tribute to one of the United Nations.

No, Charles Laughton will not recite the Gettysburg Address.

Richard Hobert and Karen Morley

Scout Richard Hobert collects old scripts from Karen Morley of CBS's Theatre of the Air. Boy Scouts have been doing a magnificent job of salvaging waste paper, with a good share of the money they earn finding its way into the coffers of the Red Cross and the U.S.O.

time comprised a few petty states, most of them dominated by France and Austria.)
The authorities forbade the opening performance, Verdi refused to adapt his music to the story, and the citizens of Naples seized the opportunity to express their political leanings with loud "Viva Verdis." "Verdi" actually meant Vittorio Emanuele Re D'Italia (Victor Emanuel, King of Italy) under whom they desired their nation united.

Finally a compromise was reached by the composer and the censor, and as the opera is now presented, the victim is a Colonial governor of Boston!
For this Saturday's presentation, the governor is portrayed by Giovanni Martelli, and the cast includes Josephine Antoine, Richard Bonelli, and Bruna Castagna.

About the Folks

Mrs. Elizabeth McAuliffe of 66 Pearl street is in the Benedictine Hospital suffering from a broken hip sustained Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Cox of Kysierke are the parents of a baby boy born last night at the Benedictine Hospital. The baby has been named Elyard.

Mrs. Lottie Relyea of 11 East St. James street was called to Middletown recently because of the illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Christensen at the Middletown Hospital.

Japanese Stones Crying

Japanese stones are free to complain. "If you happen to hear," says the Japan Times Weekly, "a strange wailing sound when traveling through the districts around Fujiyama . . . you'll be surprised that it is the poor stones crying because they have no place to go." The explanation is that these pieces of ancient lava are prized as garden stones and many people have lived by gathering and selling them. But under the Anti-Luxury Regulations these stones are forbidden to be transported, and garden stones are deemed a luxury.

Flag Is Presented to City

Legion Presents Flag to Kingston

Fitting Ceremony Is Held in Mayor's Office

A large American flag was presented to the city of Kingston by the American Legion at an impressive ceremony last evening in the mayor's office, with a host of members of the Kingston Post, Ladies' Auxiliary, Sons and Daughters of the Legion, members of the "40 and 8," and a large number of citizens attending.

Commander Stanley H. Dempsey of the Post officiated. In a brief review of their activity as a civic organization, he pointed out their effort in serving the community at large. He then called on Jack Rabin, chairman on Americanism, to present the patriotic gift to the city. The color guard placed the new flag on the mayor's desk, while the assembly stood at attention. The guard consisted of Joseph E. Sills, Abe Singer and Alfred Messinger.

Mayor Edelmuth accepted the flag for the city. He reviewed the struggles we had as a nation in the formation and sounded a cheerful note in expressing his hopeful views as to future victory awaiting us through unity and a determination to win.

After this function, the Legionnaires held their regular meeting at the Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly street, where important business was transacted.

In accepting the flag on behalf of the city Mayor Edelmuth said:

"Fellow Legionnaires and friends: I am happy tonight to accept, on behalf of the City of Kingston, this American flag, the generous and patriotic gift of Kingston Post, American Legion. It seems particularly fitting that this presentation should be made near the birth of two of history's great leaders, George Washington, to whom we are thankful for the establishment of the republic, and Abraham Lincoln, to whose devotion we owe its preservation.

"The greatness of our country was accomplished by and through the unselfish aid of great men, who, putting aside personal interests, were influenced solely by an intense loyalty to principles that raised men above the average level; principles that guaranteed him the right to life, liberty and happiness, the right to vote without fear, the right to worship God and as when he pleases—the very elemental rights that have been torn from the unfortunate peoples of so many nations today.

"God has blessed our country in numerous ways. He has endowed it with so many natural resources; He has populated it with people wanting at all times to live in harmony with other nations but willing to battle for the privileges that normal, freedom-loving people want; in every crisis in our history—and I think this is perhaps our greatest blessing—He has given us a wise leader to carry us through.

"In this, the gravest crisis in the history of the world, when civilization seems on the verge of annihilation, when rivers of blood drip from the sword of the swarthy, brutal conqueror, when untold and indescribable misery is brought into so many homes, the flaming universe looks to America for help and guidance. With God's help, we shall perform our duty to mankind.

"In this critical hour, we have our own President Roosevelt, who, with the leaders of all our Allies, calls for the assistance of every person who holds the cause of humanity above the cause of the unprincipled, bloodthirsty dictators. We must not let that call go unanswered. We must reply with all we have at hand, whether it be through service at the front or in the vital civilian agencies or through the purchase of War Savings Stamps or Bonds.

"This is not the time for divided opinion. All American must be of one mind, one purpose. In this dark hour there can be no division of allegiance, and I am sure there is none. The United States must go forward to battle in perfect unity. Darker days may lie ahead; the conqueror's feet may crush more lands before his thirst is quenched, but always bear this in mind—American spirit and American determination to see things through cannot be crushed. The last, the all-important victory will be ours.

"And when the victorious United Nations gather about the peace table, and lay down the terms to be observed by the renegade nations, they must take a page from the past, and learn a lesson. There must not be a repetition of the quarreling that broke out among the allies after World War No. 1 and which was responsible for the conditions that permitted the dictators of Europe and Asia to again set the world aflame.

The unity we are showing now must be continued into the times of peace, in order that the world may have a guarantee that this terrible holocaust shall not be visited upon us again."

Questioned After Crash

Fromer Woodard of Washington avenue was treated at the Kingston Hospital Friday afternoon for injuries, said to be not serious, suffered when the car in which he and a companion were riding ran into a fence on Route 28, between West Hurley and Kingston. As the car continued on, following the accident, the matter was reported to the sheriff's office. Later the man was brought to the office by Deputy Sheriff Segelken, for questioning. It appears that both were on their way to the General Electric works at Schenectady, where they are employed and they were allowed to proceed.

Legionnaires Purchase Defense Bonds

Norwegian coast. The squadron was said to consist of the battleship Tirpitz, the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer and the Cruiser Admiral Hipper.

While congress concentrated on production and shipping, the President empowered the army to remove "any or all persons" from designated military areas, a step aimed primarily at the Japanese problem on the west coast.

Attorney General Biddle said it was not intended that American citizens other than those of Japanese descent would be affected, but pointed out it gave the army power to act against anyone, anywhere in the United States.

On the fighting front itself, General MacArthur's army started its eighth week under siege on Bataan peninsula with the Japanese still withholding the full scale offensive they have been building up in a week of sporadic fighting. The pattern of the conflict during the week gave every indication that the blow would be a tremendous one when it came.

Regrouping Reported

First regrouping of Japanese forces for the drive was reported Sunday, with fighting on Bataan limited to local patrols. On Monday the Japanese started heavy artillery fire, and there was intermittent infantry fighting.

The artillery bombardment continued Tuesday, with heavy fire directed against the American fortresses dominating the mouth of Manila Bay. On Wednesday new Japanese air units appeared over the lines, bombing American troops almost constantly, and new batteries were added to Japanese artillery installations, increasing the density of the fire. Also, a fairly large convoy of Japanese troops arrived in Subic Bay to join the attackers.

On Thursday General MacArthur reported the enemy increasing pressure on the American right flank, with troop movements indicating further Japanese regrouping. Heavy artillery fire continued.

Yesterday the fighting, described as positional, continued on all sections of the narrow front.

In Air Force

WILLIS D. LOCKE

Willis D. Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis R. Locke of 6 Smith avenue, formerly of this city, is one of the aviation cadets who completed his basic flight training at Randolph Field, Tex., this week. Willis Locke was one of the Class—42-D members who will be transferred to any one of a half dozen advanced training bases. This group completed the streamlined pilot-training course in record time. More instructors, doubled flying time, plus a natural "up-and-at-em" attitude, combined to reduce sharply the regular 10-week course at this oldest and largest Air Corps Basic Flying School. Awaiting these aviation cadets at the end of the Air Corps course are many weeks away are wings and commissions as second lieutenants in the air corps and probably active duty with units of the Combat Command.

has been expressed about Hitler's actual offensive intentions against Russia this spring, but it is very hard to see how he can avoid throwing everything he has against the Russians, and at the earliest possible moment.

Evidence of continuing, enlarging U. S. and British aid to the U. S. S. R. increases Hitler's desperate urgency. Entrance into the Churchill war cabinet of Sir Stafford Cripps, Russia's best and wisest friend in England, is of far more importance in this connection than is generally realized. If proof of this is needed it may be found in the German propaganda broadcasts, which have almost hysterically denounced Cripps for weeks as "the man who would deliver up Europe to the Bolsheviks."

There is yet another reason pushing Hitler into the eastern offensive and Sir Stafford put his finger on this, too, when he said recently that war between Russia and Japan was inevitable.

Vladivostok, in the words of the Chinese War Minister General Ho Ying-Chin, is the Achilles' Heel of the whole Japanese armor of successes in the Pacific, a dagger pointed right at Japan's heart, and General Ho believes Japan will attack there in little more than a month.
